

Cameramen Made Pictures Of Scenes In The Lake Loramie Play Grounds On Late Days

Will Be Offered To The Schools Of The State
When Completed

SILENT AND TALKIES

Will Produce The Scenes
That Were Caught By The Several "Talkies"

Picture takers were expected to be in this community on Wednesday to take pictures of scenes in the Lake Loramie play ground, as well as views in other sections here. A representative of the state department of education had announced to the public that he would be in this vicinity with a battery of cameramen and "shoot" wherever there seemed to be something exceptionally pretty or interesting. The squad was to stay over until Thursday so as not to overlook anything that might fit into their previously arranged scheme.

The pictures that are to be made from these "snaps" will be available for public and parochial schools. They will be finished as both talkie and silent pictures, or will be made to accommodate both makes of machines, according to the statement of men who are prosecuting the plans. In order that they may have the most interesting features picnic parties were organized among certain sections of people and the flash lights were turned on these groups, so that some day some of these folks may look at themselves as regular Hollywood folks.

At Lake Loramie the picture takers must have found many things to interest them, for the surrounding territory is really a scenic feast. Other artificial lakes in this section of the country may hold a larger volume of water, but the general setting is not nearly as attractive and this fact is mentioned quite frequently by tourists and others. The view from the east, south and north shores towards the opposite directions is simply gorgeous, especially at this time of the year, and if the pictures that are later made are perfect replicas the photographers will not be compelled to apologize.

Besides the conquest of the cameramen another matter that fishermen are interested in just now relates to the erection of a new dredge that is to make some radical rearrangements in and about the lake. The machine arrived there recently and it will go to work perhaps within thirty days.

It will have a steel hull and will be thirty-two feet wide and sixty-two feet long. The dredge will weigh about ninety tons. When it is ready for use the dredge will be used in making islands and in clearing channels.

Minster Man Found Dead Last Monday By Neighbors And One Of The Members Of His Family

Ben Weghorst Passed Away
At His Home On North
Frankfort Street

SON-IN-LAW WAS CALLED

From New Bremen To Assist
In Making An Investigation

The dead body of Ben Weghorst was found at about one o'clock on last Monday afternoon by persons who felt concerned because he had not followed his customary plans during the day. Weghorst occupied two rooms in a frame residence on north Frankfort street while the other apartments in the house are occupied by Andrew Dillman, employee at the plant of The Industrial Equipment Co. with his wife and their family. Weghorst was a widower and had no regular daily living companions.

The first person to take some action in the case was Mrs. Dillman who had noticed the man's absence from places about the premises where he had regular chores to give his attention. When he had not fed his chickens at all up to the noon hour she felt that an investigation should be made and a telephone message was dispatched to his son-in-law, Clarence Heil, who resides at New Bremen. Mr. Heil drove to Minster at once and led the movements to force a view to the inside of the house.

By the time when the man arrived at the house he was joined by the following persons who reside in that immediate section of the town: Peter Boehmer, Mr. and Mrs. Dillman, Ben Lammers, William Buschman, Frank Gausepohl and Fred Homan, with some other persons. The doors were bolted and thus it was necessary for the members of the investigating squad to force their way to the inside. However, they did not crash an entrance until they knew that they had guessed correctly about the fate of Weghorst.

The windows at the residence are covered with shutters and since those that hang over the windows in Weghorst's apartments had been closed it was necessary to swing one of these in order to effect a view to the inside. The body of the man was in plain sight to members of the searching crew when one of the latticed frames was swung open. He was sitting with his back to the window and was leaning forward as if in the act of picking up something off the floor.

When Mr. Heil and those who were counseling with him got to the inside they saw that the man had been dead for considerable time. The body was perfectly rigid and the features supported the theory that he had expired perhaps during the early morning hours. He was attired in undergarments and the position of his body gave rise to the belief that he was stooping over to draw on his socks when stricken by a violent heart attack.

A physician was called to make an examination and since there was no evidence of anything more sensational than an unexpected death no legal action was taken. The man had not been in good health for some time and he perhaps was in the act of getting ready for the day's activities when stricken.

Mr. and Mrs. Heil motored down from New Bremen on Sunday evening and they spent several hours with Mr. Weghorst, leaving the home at about nine o'clock in the night. Although he did not say that he was in discomfort, yet he might not have been in good condition, for he had consulted a physician just a few days previously.

The deceased man was born in Minster on June 21, 1873, and he would have observed his sixty-third birthday on next Sunday had he lived until that day. He was a son of Henry and Bernadine Weghorst and these persons have both been dead several years.

During his young manhood he was united in marriage to Josephine Menkhaus and they lived together in this city until in the year of 1909 when the

MOTHERS' CLUB TO HELP THE BAND

In response to a call that was sent out by men who have been taking care of duties in connection with the Minster band's affairs a number of the ladies of the community met on Wednesday night to learn what they can do in order to make the going smoother. A "Mothers' club" was set to functioning and their first obligation rests in a movement to raise the money to purchase a set of uniforms for the members.

Another meeting is to be held on Friday, June 26, at eight o'clock, p. m., at the Eagle hall when it is expected that an additional number of ladies will be in attendance.

The officers for the club are: President, Mrs. Chas. Bornhorst; secretary, Mrs. Urban Wetzel; treasurer, Mrs. Louis Heckman.

Democrats Held Forth At Wapak. Monday

They Recommended Some Party Folks For State
Appointments

Democrat committee folks from the Minster vicinity were at Wapakoneta on last Monday night to attend a meeting that was called by H. S. Vaubel who is the organization's head. With a national campaign "Just around the corner" county leaders calculated that it is time to get the old party motor ready for a long run and during the meeting some matters were discussed that may later have an important bearing. Midst the popping off of political steam there seemed to be no apprehensions as to what will occur in Auglizie county on election day, but the ring masters spoke against over-confidence, which sometimes is a bad thing even in democrat affairs.

Alfred Fischer and Elton B. Gudenkauf, both residents at Minster, were endorsed for appointments at the hands of some of the state's head officers. Fischer is the incumbent city clerk in Minster and he served as a member of the county committee up to the time of the recent re-organization. Democrats throughout the Minster locality consider him both capable and quite worthy of some consideration by the powers that be in his party. In the past he hasn't asked for rewards for services to his party although he has dirtied his linen in the political splash a number of times.

Gudenkauf is a student at the Ohio state university and he is asking for a job during the vacation period not only because of the financial profit, but because of the experience.

The committee voted favorably on a resolution to make Cyril Sherman a liquor agent in this city. Since the state legislature enacted a law which provides for an agency in this city the committee took up the matter of recommending men to serve in that capacity. Clayton W. Schnell was chosen for the position at New Bremen.

It was agreed to hold a county rally on June 27, on which date President Roosevelt will perhaps make a speech in which he will formally accept the nomination for the presidency. A dinner will be served in connection with this event and the public will learn other details from solicitors.

Alf M. Landon Was Nominated For President

At The National Republican Convention Held At Cleveland, O.

ONE BALLOT WAS TAKEN

In Which The Kansas Chief
Received All But Twenty
Of The Votes

It is not the business of weekly newspapers to carry news of national or world wide importance to its readers, hence this writer does not anticipate that he will tell any person anything that he or she does not already know when he says in these lines that the republican party nominated Governor Alf M. Landon for the presidency. The job was done at the national convention that was held at Cleveland last week and the tidings were dispatched to the four corners of the country even while the eligible persons were casting their votes in the convention hall.

Landon received every vote but twenty on the first ballot and precedent was followed at once when his nomination was made unanimous. And in the midst of the speech making, the roll call and the subsequent announcements, delegates and gallery attendees were howling until the radios almost cracked. In their manners at this convention the republicans stole the habits of the democrats and set a new mark for the followers of Franklin D. Roosevelt to shoot at when they shall come together at Philadelphia within a short time.

Landon is the governor of the state of Kansas and he loomed up as a national party leader because he was able to make some corrections in the public affairs of that state. He looked like the best bet for the nomination by the chiefs of his party because of several reasons and they perhaps knew that he would be the nominee even before the one ballot was taken. In this respect his nomination brings to mind the nomination of the late Warren G. Harding at Chicago in the year of 1920. Landon is forty-eight years of age and thus is one of the youngest persons ever nominated for the presidency in this country by a major political party. Although he was born in Pennsylvania he spent some of his earlier years in Ohio.

Notwithstanding the fact that many of his mature years have been spent as a citizen of the west, yet in reality he has affiliated with the conservative element of the republican party.

Nominating a candidate for the vice presidency was just as easy for this large gathering of republicans as to select the candidate for the presidency. Every delegate voted for Frank Knox, of Chicago, on the first ballot, and when this job was finished the men and women were ready to skeedaddle.

PIG STEALER'S CASE WAS ATTENDED TO

Ralph Stevens, Bellefontaine, who pleaded not guilty before Justice R. G. Herrman at Wapakoneta to a charge of stealing pigs, withdrew his plea and entered a guilty plea, and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in county jail. A hearing, set for 10 a. m. Friday was vacated by Justice Herrman. Three others, two of them women, who entered guilty pleas in connection with pig theft, east of New Hampshire, are in county jail.

Julius Rietzman, Who Re- Sides North East Of Min- ster Suffered Loss

LARGE BARN WAS BURNED

But The Residence, Which Is A Two Story Brick, Was Not Touched

The rain that visited in this section of the country on last Wednesday evening to relieve a strained situation with the farmers was attended by an electrical storm that caused large damage to the home of Julius Rietzman, farmer residing about two miles north east of Minster. A charge of lightning struck in an out-building on his premises and set fire to the combustible material. The blaze was soon unmanageable and ere it had subsided thousands of dollars worth of valuable stuff had been burned up.

The Rietzman farm is located about one and one-fourth mile east of state route sixty-six and about one-half way between two gravel roads that run east and west over the country. The family live in a two story brick residence and this was about the only building on the premises that was not damaged by the flames. The house is covered by a slate roof and the non-combustible shingles perhaps saved the building.

The fire was started at about nine o'clock and within a short time the entire community was in the throes of excitement, for the reflection was visible in every direction and it could be seen over a distance of many miles. The fire siren at the Minster firemen's headquarters was set to vibrating and its call to the members of the company brought them into immediate action. A hurried run was made across the scene and the men were ready to work while the blaze was at the height of its destructive action.

A barn that was fifty by one hundred feet in dimensions and well filled with material that burned almost like powder was the object of the lightning's attack and very soon after the blaze was discovered its fate was sealed. Besides the dry timbers in the frame there were three hundred bushels of wheat and twenty tons of new alfalfa hay and the fire was soon lapping up this material. In fact within fifteen minutes after the fire started every particle in and about the building had been touched by the fiery tongue.

Before the sections on the large barn began to drop apart the flames had swung to the north east and set fire to a machine shed and granary that stood about fifty feet away. This building was enveloped very soon and it was reduced to ashes almost as quickly as the larger edifice that was hit first by the destructive element. It had dimensions of thirty by forty feet and was a substantial building.

In addition to the two buildings that were burned to the ground, the owner listed the following other losses along with the wheat and the alfalfa hay that were in the larger barn: Some oats, two calves, tractor, as well as scores of pieces of machinery and farm equipment that was lost sight of in the hurry of the hour.

A grass mower, hay loader, rake and corn plow were pulled to safety after the alarm had been sounded. Mr. Rietzman was able to pull his automobile into a safe place, but was driven away by the smoke when he made an attempt to drag his tractor to a safe position.

On Thursday morning the owner gave the situation a hurried inventory and advised persons who discussed the matter with him that his loss would amount to at least seven thousand dollars.

Ft. Loramie Youth's Remains Were Brought To Minster For Burial On Wednesday Morning

Member Of A Family That Was Prominent Here For
Number Of Years

HAD BEEN AFFLICTED

For A Long Time And Was Denied Many Of The Youthful Indulgences

The body of Louis Henry Koverman, youth who died at his home in Ft. Loramie, was brought to Minster on Wednesday morning and given interment in the St. Augustine cemetery. The family of which the lad was a member lived in this community for many years and his early attachments were with the affairs here. While his people were residing in this locality the father died and his body was buried in the St. Augustine cemetery.

The boy was only sixteen years of age and his death ended a less pleasant experience than any young person must have if their early days are to be their happiest. Minster citizens who contacted with him while he lived here will remember that he was in ill health almost continuously and was compelled to stand aloof from many of the indulgences that his companions accepted. As he neared the age of young manhood his condition did not improve.

He was born on March 18, 1919, and was a son of the late Ed Koverman and Mary Meyer

Koverman. At the time of his birth the family was residing on a farm east of this city and it was at this place where he spent several years of his life. Because physical affliction overtook him very early in life he was not able to take advantage of the opportunities to educate himself that many other young persons of his day accepted, but he gave some attention to this matter.

His father, who had been a well known resident in the farming locality east of Minster for a life time, died in the year of 1930 and soon after this incident in their affairs the family made some radical changes in their routine. They moved to Ft. Loramie in March, 1934, and established their home in a residence in the extreme west side of the village, at which place the lad died at 7:30 o'clock on Monday a. m.

Besides the mother the youth is survived by the following sisters and brothers: John, Ben, Andrew, Herman Koverman, Margaret Koverman and Mrs. Edgar Helmsing, all living in this section of the country; Rose Koverman living at Dayton.

A sister, who was Anna Koverman, died five years ago at the age of twenty-six years. Prior to the hour for the burial services Mass was read in the St. Augustine church by Rev. Vitus Schuette, C. P. S., pastor of the local parish.

Minster People To Assist In The Work At Recreation Camp At Ft. Scott Near Cincinnati, O.

Boys And Girls From Many Localities Will Assemble
At The Place

REV. LAWRENCE TEBBE

Former McCartyville Boy,
Will Be In Charge Of The Affairs

The following persons whose homes are in the Minster vicinity left during the past few days for Ft. Scott, near Cincinnati, where they will be employed in a recreation camp during the current summer season: Mrs. Catharine Stueve, Mrs. Helen Weiskittel, Mary Ann Bensman, Luella Bensman, Vera Eiting, Jerome Seigrist, Evelyn Weiskittel, Ellen Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gephart.

The Minster company was organized through the efforts of Rev. Lawrence Tebbe, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tebbe, at McCartyville, who will be in charge of the camp. It is being opened for the pleasure and convenience of perhaps more than two hundred girls and boys and they will enjoy whatever may be provided in the line of sports during the intervening time. Father Tebbe will be in direct charge of the general activities of the camp and he will be assisted by the several persons whose names are given in the paragraph above.

Mrs. Stueve will have charge of the cooking activities for the girls and her assistants will be Misses Mary Ann and Luella Bensman, Miss Vera Eiting and Jerome Seigrist.

Mrs. Weiskittel will superintend the cooking for the girls and she will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Gephart, Misses Evelyn Weiskittel and Ellen Weaver.

The cooks' helpers will assume other duties about the camp, besides that of seeing the youngsters' stomachs are well provided for.

The local people will perhaps be absent from their homes until the outing season begins to fold up, which is usually about the time of labor day. In the mean time they will contact with youngsters from many different sections of the country and learn new facts about the difference in habits as they are influenced by conditions in opposite section of the land.

It is said that the plans for a summer recreation camp at Ft. Scott were organized during a previous season and thus have been operating for several years.

COLUMBIANS ELECT SET OF OFFICERS

The members of the Minster council Knights of Columbus met for a regular session on Thursday night of last week and in addition to other business transacted they elected a set of officers to serve for the coming term.

At the conclusion of the meeting a lunch was served.

The following members were chosen to serve as officers: Grand knight—Chas. B. Heckman. Deputy grand knight—Leo A. Albers.

Chancellor—George Busse. Recorder—Urban Severin. Treasurer—Louis Hafner.

Advocate—Ray Kuhn. Warden—Raymond Thieman. Inside guard—John Heil. Outside guard—Anton Eynik. Trustee—W. J. Borchers.

STUDENT IN MINSTER FOR HIS VACATION

Richard Oldiges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Oldiges, arrived in Minster a few days ago and he will be the guest of his parents here during the greater part of the summer season. The young man has been located at St. Nazien, Wisconsin, for considerable time as a student for the priesthood.

THE STORY

CHAPTER I—The Duke, a pleasant looking youth of twenty-three, blonde hair and blue eyes, entered an unoccupied summer home in Southampton, seeking shelter from a terrific rain storm. He makes himself at home. Six years ago his father had died in China, leaving the lad, Harry Gilbert, to fight his way back to the States. He did not recollect ever having had a mother. During the first few years he was in the States, he was in the hands of a butler, Willetts, a chauffeur, Evans, a cook and a maid. He learned that the son of the owner of the house Jack Riddler, whom the servants had never seen, is expected. He decides to bluff it out. His supposed parents have left for Germany. Next morning he is given a letter by his "mother." He opens it and finds a message from the real Jack, saying he could not come, and returning a hundred dollar bill. The boy's father had passed him into obscurity. Harry pockets the money, intending to return it later. He orders Evans to take him to Montauk, intending to disappear there. On the way he meets Judge Hambridge and his daughter, Patricia, whose car had broken down. Believing he is Jack Riddler, she invites him to dinner the following Thursday.

CHAPTER II—Harry returns to Southampton, deciding to stay longer. Mr. Riddler, Mr. through his newspaper, the Globe, accuses Judge Hambridge of taking orders from Tammany Hall in a condemnation proceeding. Harry meets Peter Winslow, prominent attorney. Winslow tells Harry that Judge Hambridge had seen an accident in which a woman was killed by a taxicab. At home Harry told the wife of the real Jack Riddler, awaiting him. Her husband is in jail in New York, charged with the murder of Mike Kelly, Tammany boss.

CHAPTER III—The girl, Peggy, tells Harry how she had met Jack in Florida, and married him. She says Rogers, Jack lost his job, and they went to New York, where she got word from the Coast Guard that she was accused of trying to pick the pockets of Mike Kelly. Harry, who had been told that Jack was dead, is shocked. He tells her that he had seen the real Jack Riddler, who had been told that Jack was dead. He tells her that he had seen the real Jack Riddler, who had been told that Jack was dead.

CHAPTER IV—Harry catches Mrs. Riddler for $200. She tells him that Rogers, Jack's man, had a job on the Globe under his true name. The editor, Evans, told her that she was to cover the Kelly murder. Harry tells her that he had seen the real Jack Riddler, who had been told that Jack was dead. He tells her that he had seen the real Jack Riddler, who had been told that Jack was dead.

CHAPTER V—Harry catches Mrs. Riddler for $200. She tells him that Rogers, Jack's man, had a job on the Globe under his true name. The editor, Evans, told her that she was to cover the Kelly murder. Harry tells her that he had seen the real Jack Riddler, who had been told that Jack was dead. He tells her that he had seen the real Jack Riddler, who had been told that Jack was dead.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT

No. 14303

Estate of Barbara Schmiesing, deceased.
Notice is hereby given that Louis Henry and Anthony Schmiesing of Minster, Ohio, R. R. No. 1, have been appointed and qualified as Executors of the Estate of Barbara Schmiesing, late of Jackson Township, Auglaize County, deceased.
Dated this 28th day of May, A. D. 1936.
Harry F. Wittenbrink,
Probate Judge of Auglaize County, Ohio
Boesel and Boesel, Attorneys.

Winslow, who was close to Judge Hambridge, but Pat? Into Barry's mind trickled slowly small, insistent recollections—one after another. Recollections that, in the beginning, seemed to have nothing to do with the case. Pat was in the night of the murder. Naturally—with her father; what of it? "He wouldn't let me stay with him," she had said, at dinner the next evening in Southampton. What of it?

But the trickles were becoming a good flow. The afternoon Hambridge had confessed, feeling, why did Pat keep checking him? Judge? What did she fear his disclosing? And the confession itself; why did he make it?

"I'm off again," Barry raged at himself. "Just because Ernie said, Winslow may be shelling Hambridge, or someone close to him. That might mean someone close to Winslow. But who's closer than the Hambridges? And then he remembered declaring, the afternoon of the Judge's confession, 'The man—' or the woman—who killed Kelly knew what he—or she—was going to do."

"Why do you say 'she'?" Pat had asked emotionally. "This wasn't a woman's crime."
Winslow had asserted, too; only a few hours ago: "that man." Curious.

And motive? Well, you couldn't deny that. If Kelly was threatening Judge Hambridge, and Pat knew it, there was no doubt that she did. "I've got something in my pocket," the Judge had quoted Kelly as shouting, and Pat had intervened promptly. All those weeks, before the decision was filed, she had written under the newspaper attacks on her father. Suppose she had known what was compelling that decision, and undertaken to remove the compulsion. "Silly!" Barry fumed at himself. "Fantastic! Peter isn't shelling anyone. He's talking sense, that's all, and he's the only one of the lot of us who does. I told him I'd suspected almost everyone in New York, and now it's Long Island. And the only girl in the world I ever gave a damn about, I'm the champion catch-as-catch-can moron of the United States and Canada!"

The house of cards was a wreck now, and Barry turned to other self-questionings. "That paper in Kelly's pocket—the great one—Lulu. But it seems to have been the threat over Hambridge, also. What's the connection?"

"None," he finally decided, interlarding that idea, too, and turning in bed, determined that he must sleep. "Something between Morano and Kelly, yes, but between Morano and Judge Hambridge—well, that's just beet-tops!" With that he fell asleep.

The telephone awakened him. "Ten o'clock," the girl at the switchboard droned. "Call from Southampton?"

"Mr. Gilbert? This is the hospital at Southampton. Miss Hambridge asked me to tell you that Jacky Rogers has been hurt. We don't know how badly yet. His horse threw him. She'd like to know if you can come at once."

"Certainly."
"Miss Hambridge says, if you'll go straight to her home, she'll be there."

Fortunately, he got Evans at once, and they were on the Merrick road less than an hour later. "Never mind the red lights," Barry ordered. "Keep going!"

But Evans was wary, beating the lights when it seemed safe to do so; stopping when it didn't, and pushing the car to its limit on stretches of unpaved highway. Before two o'clock, Evans drew up in front of the Hambridges. Pat was waiting.

"I've just minutes got back from the hospital," she beamed. "Teg's still there, of course. But Jacky's arm's broken."
"Nothing worse?"
Pat shook her head.
"The whole thing's my fault," she said, tremulously. "Jacky's too young for a pony. Although I had use at his age. My mother was brought up in a little town called Warren, where babies rode before they could walk."
She took him into the drawing room, where they were joined by her father, who seemed terribly broken. "Your kid," he kept saying. "And poor Peggy. With all her other worries..."

"We agreed to tell the truth if Jack wasn't free Wednesday." The Judge's muscles stiffened. "What do you mean by the truth, Pat?"
"That you saw Kelly after Jack left him."
For answer, Hambridge turned squarely to Barry.

"You're pretty shrewd, Mr. Gilbert," he said, for the second time. "If you were the District Attorney, and heard what I told you here a few weeks ago, what would you ask?"

Barry replied, "I'd ask what that paper in Kelly's pocket? What was in it to compel an honest man to write a crooked decision? I'd ask who else might have wanted that paper—and what became of it?"

Both Pat and her father were staring at Barry now, with wide, staring eyes in which lay something like terror.

The Judge cried, "We can't face that."

"We've got to face it," Pat said. "We've got to. There's a woman with a sick boy."

"There's another woman too," the Judge interrupted. "A woman closer and dearer to me—" He checked himself, remembering suddenly that he and his daughter were not alone. Remembering, he turned back to Barry. "You know how I feel about all this," he pleaded. "I've said repeatedly that we must clear Riddler at any cost. But now you've put my fear into words. They can't convict this boy. What's the difference whether he's free tomorrow or two weeks from tomorrow? If there were any possibility of convicting an innocent man—I'd have no choice. But now—"

The telephone rang in the hall. Pat said, "It's Peggy!"
She had risen, and the Judge after her, when a servant appeared. "Mr. Winslow on the wire," the servant announced. "Very important, sir."

The Judge went out, closing the door after him.
Pat excused herself. "I think I'd better go to my father."
Barry waited, alone, but his anxiety was great, too, and, at last, he paraded the double doors and went into the drawing room.

As he did so, he heard the Judge's voice.
Evidently, Hambridge had just hung up the phone, and was addressing his daughter.

"They've arrested Morano," he said. "For murdering Kelly. What are we going to do now?"
But the girl had seen Barry.

An instant later, she came into the room, very white and shaken. Barry looked at her.
"Who killed Kelly?" he asked. "You know, don't you?"
But Pat did not answer him. Her hand closed over the back of a chair, and she awayed dizzily.

Barry caught her up in his arms. "It's no use. We've got to have the truth. Who murdered Mike Kelly?"
His grip tightened on her shoulders.

"For God's sake—Pat—darling—was it you?"
"Who murdered Mike Kelly?" The question was being asked him from every news-stand in New York.

Beneath it, in huge headlines, the Globe answered, and accused. In journalist circles, that story is still referred to as "the big beat": "Who murdered Mike Kelly?" "Do the police know?" "Have they always known?" "And has this knowledge been pigeon-holed, while an innocent man was held for the crime, because the real murderer knew too much about Tammany Hall?"
The Globe replied to these queries in a series of denunciatory statements, libel-proof by a direct sprinkling of the usual "It is alleged" and "who is said to be."
"Lulu Morano owned the house at 24 Jefferson street. He bought it in 1920, and lived there alone, with two colored servants, until 1931, when he purchased a stock farm near Morrisstown, N. J. The house remained vacant, and last January, Morano sold it to the Progressive Realty company for $12,000."
"In March, when the Progressive company transferred most of Jefferson street to the city for a so-called boulevard, the value of the Morano property was set at $55,000."
"The Civic association alleged that the Progressive company was merely a stalking horse for Boss Kelly, and condemnation proceedings were instituted before Judge Curtis Hambridge, whose decision was filed only an hour after Kelly was found dead, his skull fractured by a blow from a heavy cut-glass decanter.

"On the day of the murder," a man, believed to be Morano, telephoned the Globe that he could and would establish Kelly's connection with the Progressive company. An appointment was made for 10:30 that night. The man did not appear.

"But at eight o'clock—two hours and a half earlier—Kelly went to the Coconut Bar. He is said to have had with him two henchmen, and a paper of some sort, with which he threatened Morano. Kelly alleged that an effort was made to pick his pocket of this document, but it was still in his possession when he left the Coconut Bar. "When Kelly's body was found, the paper had vanished. All this, it, and always has been known to the police. Kelly was killed between one and two o'clock in the morning."

"At one o'clock, Morano telephoned his attorney that he was hoping into his car to drive to Morrisstown. But the police know, and have always known that Morano's car was still in front of the Coconut Bar three hours later. They know, and have always known that a new traffic cop gave the chauffeur a summons at that time, and that the two men went into the Bar together to find Morano. He was not there, and the doorman said he had not been there since shortly after one o'clock."

BOTKINS REDS COMING HERE SUNDAY

The Botkins Reds, base ball club with a kick, will be in Minster on next Sunday afternoon and they will show their fanciness at the Eagle park in the afternoon. This club is one of the best that is now galavanting in this section of Ohio and if folks don't go to see it perform they can't be depended on to support the good old national game. After taking part in several games since the first week in May the players are in top form and are ready for a hot campaign.

When the game that has been arranged for gets under way the Reds from Botkins will be opposed by the Minster team and unless something goes haywire with the inner works of one of these clubs there'll be some very fine base ball playing for spectators to look at. We know that the Botkins players are good, but good as they are, they're not a whit better than the squad that is helping Bob Meyer to force a place in the base ball sun for this old town.

The folks who will be in the stands and along the side lines at the local park will hear the umpire make this announcement before the game gets to going: "Batteries for today's game: for Botkins, Lowry pitching and Blanke catching. For Minster Don Vanderhorst pitching, and Lawrence Vanderhorst catching." Or he may say "Whitey" Vanderhorst catching.

And thus the stage will be set for a pitcher's battle that ought to make history for this land of Francis Joseph Stallo. Lowry is a white-bang and so is Vanderhorst, and whichever of these two shining artists gets the favors of dame fortune will lead his team to triumph.

A few weeks ago these two teams met on the Botkins school lot and the Reds did nothing worse than give the Minster team a right severe trouncing. At the conclusion of their battle the score stood as follows: Minster 1 and Botkins 3. Now it is time for the locals to get repecting and their friends are expected to do that very thing.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

A CHICKEN BONE IN CHILD'S THROAT

A bronchoscopy was performed at Sidney Memorial hospital Sunday evening on two-year old Thomas Smith Stickle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stickle, of Westville, to remove a small chicken bone which had lodged in the child's larynx.

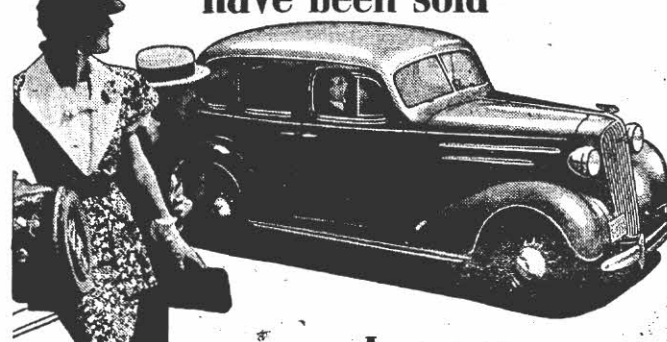

The baby was in a serious condition as the bone, which was quite a large piece of the thin breast bone of a chicken, had lodged crossways in the larynx.

The accident happened when the child, with his parents, was attending a birthday dinner for his grandmother, in Urbana. The baby choked, and the family made an unsuccessful effort to dislodge the bone, then summoned a doctor at Urbana, who took X-rays and later had the baby taken to the Sidney hospital for the bronchoscopy to be performed.

Word from the hospital Monday was that the child was getting along nicely and would be a patient there for a short time before being removed to his home.

SIDNEY YOUTH ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Billy Monger, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Monger, of Sidney, is recovering from an injury inflicted to his right shoulder when a .22 rifle was accidentally discharged, the bullet lodging in a muscle of the shoulder.

The young man, with Tom Bill Robinson, of Sidney, were examining the latter's rifle. When Monger opened the rifle it accidentally discharged.

An X-ray of the injury was taken which revealed that the bullet had lodged in the muscle and would not be necessary to operate. Serums to prevent lockjaw and other infections were administered. No serious results from the wound are anticipated.

ALUMNI BANQUET A BIG SUCCESS

Held Tuesday Evening

The graduates of the class of 1936 of Fort Loramie high, were formally welcomed into the Alumni of the school, at the first annual banquet and dance, held Tuesday evening, at Shorts Landing.

The banquet table was adorned with an abundance of beautiful flowers, together with tall blue and gold candles, which were the class colors, gave those present a pleasant and delightful view as they entered the room.

The first on the program was the alma mater song. After this a delicious chicken dinner with all its trimmings, was served in fine style.

President Ferd Fleckenstein then welcomed the class of '36 into the association, and Vera Gaier, President of the class of '36, gave a very fine response, in which she thanked the alumni for the banquet and dance, and she also stated that her class would do everything possible to help make the association bigger and better. A number of the members were then called upon and they expressed their views and all agreed that all should try and make next years event a much larger affair.

The main event of the evening was dancing, and the music was furnished by Johnnie Nagel, and his orchestra, from Wapakoneta, who really produced some fine music and also entertained those present with some specialties.

The following were present: Vera Gaier, Elizabeth Wissman, Betty Vogelsang, Leona Sanders, Helen Eilerman, Evelyn Fleckenstein, Mary M. Sommer, Marie Freytag, Florence Sommer, Bernadine Meritz, Cecilia Raterman, Zelma Roussau, Catharine Boerger, Mary Sherman, Adella Hoelscher, Anne Hilgert, Elsie Freytag, Kathryn Reiger, Bernadette Meyer, Ruth Brucken, Zelma Daldus, Agnes Didier, Marge Didier, Carl Borchers, Alvin Bue, Richard Barhorst, Donald Kiefer, Paul Marshall, Ralph Larger, Howard Inderrieden, Herbert Turner, Homer Bollheimer, Quentin Danzig, Lester Greiner, Karl Daniel, Ferd Fleckenstein, Walter Daniel, Clarence Ernst, Clarence Boerger, Norbert Hilgert, Valery Groff, William Borchers, Julius Schlatter, Ralph Raterman, William Danzig, Paul Daniel, Harry Raterman, Edward Winklerjohn, Matt Hilgert, Edward Hilgert, Herbert Borchers.

Trojans Given A Dose Of The Local's Drops

Firey Game Played At The Park In Ft. Loramie Sunday Afternoon

A HOME RUN COUNTED

Very Largely In The Triumph That Was Achieved By The Athletics

After getting off to a shaky start and spotting the opponents seven runs in the first three innings "Lefty" Keyser and his mates settled down and held the hard hitting aggregation from Troy to three runs and six hits the remaining nine innings.

Troy showed their power at the plate in the very first inning by scoring three runs on three hits and two base on balls. With two men retired in the second the Trojans picked up two more runs on three ringing doubles, Abshire making the third out on a fly to Majors at short. Troy added two more in the third on two more doubles and a single. This seemed to be more than enough to win as Balwin was bending them over like a veteran and not permitting a run all this time. Loramie threatened to score in all three innings but could not push a run across until the fourth when "Salty" the first man up found one to his liking and poled one to the highway for a home run.

Balwin weakened in the fifth and Loramie plated four runs on two hits, a pair of free tickets and two errors. Troy added another in the sixth on a single and two errors. The Athletics not to be denied in their half of the sixth tied up the ball game at eight all, by sending over three more runs, Paulus first up hit what looked to be an ordinary single but by some fancy base running stretched the hit to a double, Maier then walked, Schamp whose hitting has been a sensation came through with a timely three base hit bringing home Paulus and Maier, Busse promptly singled sending Schamp home with the tying run. Both sides failed to score in the seventh and eighth. In the ninth Troy broke the tie by getting a run on two doubles. With two men already retired in Loramie's half Brandewie rode one for two bases, Larger was then sent in to bat for Schulze and came through nobly, hitting a pinch double to center score Brandewie and again tying the score, and sending the game into extra innings.

Both sides went scoreless in the tenth.

Things looked pretty dark for the Athletics in the top half of the eleventh when Troy broke the tie on a hit batter, a fielder's choice and a double by Balwin for one run. But things brightened to perfection in the local boys half of the eleventh as Keyser first up grounded out to the pitcher, "Salty" than sent a screaming line drive to left for three bases and came all the way in to score the tying run when the throw in went into the crowd as no one covered third. Brandewie singled and went to third as Wise erred on Larger's hit to short, Paulus was then ordered to put on the squeeze on the second pitch, was unable to come through for the foxy Abshire called for a pitch out that Cy couldn't reach with a ten foot pole, Brandewie was tagged out on the play. Maier then decided it was time to go home singled, bringing in Larger with the winning run and a story book finish to one of the hardest fought ball games seen in the local park in many a day.

NEXT SUNDAY'S GAME

Well, it seems as though we are getting in stronger competition right along. Since some of our neighboring towns have discontinued we are urged to book teams that we haven't had on our books before. On next Sunday the strong Wapak Reds challenges the Ft. Loramie Athletics at Ft. Loramie high school park. This promises to be a good game similar to last Sunday's game.

VERSAILLES DEFEAT JUNIOR ATHLETICS 8 TO 1

The Junior Athletics traveled to Versailles, last Sunday afternoon, and met defeat at the hands of the Zeniths of that place by a margin of 8 to 1.

Erratic fielding on the part of the locals was the principal downfall of the locals.

Versailles scored their first run in the second when two walks, and two errors by Ernst scored a run. Reeser singled in the third and scored as Anthony made a misplay at third.

Again in the sixth the winners tallied another run when Barga was safe on Anthony's error, and scored as Chambers threw wild to first.

In the seventh the Zeniths tallied five more runs on two hits and four errors.

The Juniors scored their lone run in the third when Greiner doubled and scored as Ernst singled.

Carl Daniel limited the Versailles nine to but four hits, striking out ten batters and if his support could have been better would have held the winners scoreless.

Marriage Solemnized Here On May 23

A very beautiful and impressive wedding was solemnized in St. Michael church, Ft. Loramie, Ohio, on Saturday, May 23, at 8:30 o'clock when Miss Irene Schaefer, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schaefer, east of Ft. Loramie and Mr. Wilford Monnin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Monnin, of Russia, were united in marriage in the presence of a number of friends and relatives.

Rev. Anthony Moeller, pastor of the parish officiated using the double ring ceremony.

At the familiar strains of the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, the bride party proceeded to the altar led by the little flower girl, Edna Poeppelman, a very close friend of the bride.

The bride was beautifully attired in a gown of white satin trimmed in lace and rhinestones, and a long flowing veil, trimmed in orange blossoms. She wore white satin pumps and carried a bouquet of white carnations tied with white tulle.

Miss Clara Schaefer of Piqua, sister of the bride dressed in a frock of peach silk organdie over a taffeta slip, made with fitted lines, and beautiful ruffles falling to the floor. She wore a large peach hair braid hat, tied with a green satin bow, and wore green satin sandals. Her arm was filled with a shower bouquet of pink carnations, tied in tulle.

Little Edna Poeppelman wore a green georgette dress over a pink slip, white shoes, and green anklets, and wore a rhinestone head band in her hair. She carried a spray of pink carnations.

The groom and his attendant Mr. Orville Grilliot of Russia, wore the conventional dark blue suits and wore white buttoners.

After the ceremony they returned to the bride's home where about 80 guests enjoyed a days celebration. A dance was given in their honor in the evening at The Lindhaus Grove.

The newlyweds have the best wishes for a long and happy married life, to their new home in Russia.

Wedding At St. Augustine
Church On Saturday

The St. Augustine church in Minster was the site for a very pretty wedding ceremony which took place on Saturday morning, June 13, 1936. During the services the betrothal of Miss Leona Wente, of the St. Augustine parish, and Frederick Ellis, of the St. Peter and Paul parish at Newport, was sealed by the authority of the church.

The wedding Mass was read by Rev. Vitus Schuette, C. P. S., who used the beautiful double ring ceremony. The couple was attended by Marie Wente, sister of the bride, Leander Brockman, a friend, Irolla Brockman, a friend and Ray Wente, a brother of the bride. The bride was charming in a princess style dress, with long train, high standing lace collar, copper color hose and tan slippers.

Miss Marie Wente's dress was of pink taffeta. She wore pink sandals and a pink hat. Miss Brockman wore a yellow Mousse-de-souise dress over a taffeta yellow slip, yellow sandals and yellow hat.

The young men wore gray suits. The bride's long white veil was trimmed in pearls and she carried a large bouquet of callies and daisies.

The bridesmaids carried pink carnations and roses.

Mrs. Ellis is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wente and she had been employed at Dayton in the past.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ellis at Newport. He has been living at Dayton where he was employed by the Frigidaire corporation.

They will reside at 97 Webster street in Dayton.

On the day of the wedding a celebration was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Newlyweds Offered
Entertainment To Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gausepohl, who were married only recently, entertained relatives, neighbors and friends at the East Side country club on last Saturday evening. A lunch was served while the members of the party enjoyed dancing and other indulgences.

Mr. and Mrs. Gausepohl are making their home temporarily with the latter's father, Henry Duwel, but they will soon locate on a farm east of Minster.

Meyer And Kaiser
Wedding On Saturday

On last Saturday morning, June 13, at nine o'clock two popular young people appeared before the altar at the St. Augustine church in Minster as candidates for matrimonial honors and they were met by Rev. Francis Rehberger, C. P. S., who performed the ceremony in which Clarence Meyer and Henrietta Kaiser were made husband and wife. They are both members of well known families throughout the country and their wedding called forth interest on the part of many persons.

The bride was attended by Miss Evangeline Osterloh, who is a cousin of the groom, while the groom was attended by Richard Kaiser, brother of the bride.

Miss Kaiser wore an ivory satin dress with long veil and harmonizing accessories. She carried a bouquet of roses and carnations.

Miss Osterloh was attired in a yellow net dress with green accessories and she carried a bouquet of roses and carnations.

The groom and his attendant wore suits of gray. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. A day's celebration was held there and in the evening a dance was given in Kemper's grove.

Mrs. Meyer is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kaiser who reside on a farm three miles north west of Minster and on state route 119. In the past she was employed at the Kroger store and at The Minster Manufacturing company's plant.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Meyer who are living on a farm three miles south west of Minster and in the Egypt community. He has lived at the parents' home.

They are making a trip to Niagara Falls and to Cleveland, Ohio, and when they return will establish their home on a farm one and one-half mile west of Ft. Loramie.

DRIVERS HAD
IMPROPER LICENSES

Three motorists were arrested in the eastern part of the county and each was fined $5 and costs on a charge of driving with improper licenses.

Baxley Lee, southwest of Waynesfield was arraigned in the court of Mayor W. R. Hatfield, Waynesfield.

Roy E. Copeland, near Waynesfield, and Clyde Smith, Belle Center, were arraigned in the court of R. G. Herrman, justice of peace at Wapakoneta.

BURGLARS OPERATE
AT SIDNEY HOME

Burglars entered the home of Miss Maude Haslup in Sidney Thursday night, and ransacked every room in the house.

A group of young women have rooms at the Haslup home and they were attending the peony show at Van Wert. Miss Flornio Sloan, reported that $50 had been taken from a dresser and about $10 was taken from a desk on the first floor belonging to Miss Haslup. About $20 left in a vanity case by Miss Edna Miller was overlooked.

LITTLE GIRL HAS CRACKED WRIST

Jos. Schwartz, who resides at Newport, brought his ten-year-old daughter, Dorothy to Minster on Friday evening of last week to have an arm attended to after it had suffered a slight fracture. The girl was riding on a scooter along the sidewalk in that hamlet when one of her companions accidentally pushed her off of the scooter. The father is the butcher and meat salesman in the A. J. Wagner meat and grocery store in Minster.

CARD OF THANKS

We are taking this means of conveying our thanks to the many people who were considerate of us following the death of our father, the late Ben Weghorst. We remember the Christian ministrations of the Rev. Pastor, the kindness of relatives, neighbors and friends and the efficient service rendered by undertakers N. J. Hogenkamp & Son.

Commodore Perry's Notes

"We have met the enemy and they are ours." This brief note, hastily scribbled on the back of a letter by Commodore Perry to inform General Harrison of the victory on Lake Erie, has lived throughout the years as one of our great messages. Hardly an adult or school child in the country does not know this message by heart and what it means. However, the more carefully composed and more elaborate, formal dispatch which Perry sent to the secretary of war is scarcely known to exist. It reposes in the archives of Washington, where it is perused only by some researchers and students of American history. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"The Pillar of Farewell"

In a forest clearing near Sredlovsk stands a pillar of masonry marking the boundary between Russia in Europe and Russia in Asia. On the western side is carved the word "Europe," on the eastern "Asia." This is, perhaps, the best-known frontier mark in the world, for past it have streamed tens of thousands of unfortunate exiles bound for Siberia. It is known as "The Pillar of Farewell." — Answers Magazine.

Internal Heat of the Earth

The internal heat of the earth is a source of energy that is not intermittent and can be tapped anywhere on the land. In many parts of the earth hot gases blow into the atmosphere in enormous volume. They exude particularly in volcanic regions of Italy, California and Alaska. The steaming crevices are caused by underground rivers coming in contact with volcanic fires.

The man who is brilliant part of the time is generally laborious all the time.

Urban Liesner is recovering from his injuries suffered in the motorcycle accident, which happened last week.

Grilliot and Koverman have received an assignment of six tractors. All are on display in front of the garage.

Fr. Clarence Graf, and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Graf visited with relatives in Hamilton and Cincinnati on Tuesday.

Dr. Milliet spent Monday morning in McCartyville, discussing the school situation at Anna and McCartyville.

Richard Huecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Huecker, is visiting with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lehmkuhl.

Clarence Raterman made a business trip to Sidney on Saturday afternoon in the interest of the McCartyville schools.

Henry Fleckenstein, circulation manager of the Western Times, Ft. Loraine's newspaper, was a caller in McCartyville on Friday.

Leonard Corbin, who has a cottage near Lehmkuhl's has built a new boat. Its trim lines are the envy of less fortunate fishermen.

Mrs. Adeline Carity and family attended the wedding of Mrs. Carity's brother, Elmer Pleiman, which took place at Sidney on Wednesday.

John Baumer is still seriously ill with dropsy and other complications. Mr. Baumer is 65 years old, and lives south of here on route 54.

Norbert Schemmel is preparing for a trip to Texas and perhaps to California. He has the car in fine condition, due to extensive repairs at the local garage. He will leave in another week, along with his brother Harry, and two boy friends from Sidney.

Fr. Graf urged the young ladies of the parish as well as the married ladies to start making mystery boxes for the coming church social.

Stella and Bernard Pleiman, younger children of Ben Pleiman, spent the last week with their brother Henry Pleiman, who lives near Osgood.

Fr. Clarence Graf, with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Graf attended the Holy Angels class play, "Big Hearted Herbert," held at Sidney on Tuesday.

While in Greenburg they saw the tree recently shown in "Ripley's Believe It or Not Column," that is growing out of the courthouse roof.

Julius Otting has sold his big thrashing outfit to a man from Greenville. He proposes to buy a tractor and separator and continue his thrashing activities with the smaller machine. This leaves only the thrasher of Anthony Watercutter, of the large type in this vicinity. It is with regret that many of us see the passing of the big thrashing machine. Its Toot! Toot! and monstrous engine always stirred up memories of by-gone days which the little tractor seems unable to supply.

Martin Hickerson, Robert and Herbert Platfoot, Alfred and Lawrence Carity made a trip to eastern Kentucky last Sunday. Mr. Hickerson originally came from this section of Kentucky.

The Feast of Corpus Christi was celebrated at the church on Sunday at the eight o'clock mass. A special altar was erected in the auditorium of the school, and a procession was held from the church to the school, where adoration was held. The procession then moved back to the church where Benediction was given.

Sacred Heart Feast day will be celebrated here next Friday. Masses will be at 7 and 10 o'clock. Another priest will be here on Thursday evening to hear confessions. Because of the feast day, all people within the limits of the McCartyville congregation will be allowed to eat meat. This column expects quite a lot of business from outside neighbors dropping in for a visit—perhaps a meal.

The baby born to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bornhorst last week weighed 7½ lbs at birth. He was named Raymond Louis. The sponsors were: Norma and Urban Bornhorst, sister and brother of Raymond Louis. This is the twelfth child born to Mr. and Mrs. Bornhorst. All the children are in fine health and a credit to their parents. Mr. Louis Bornhorst is the son of the former Mr. and Mrs. Clay Bornhorst and Mrs. Bornhorst was the former Rose Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer.

The pupils of the eighth grade of the McCartyville rural school who are: Rita Bensman, Lorena Riethman, Lawrence Baumer, Mary Evelyn Dees, Henrietta Riethman, Ralph Thaman, Norbert Flaute, Pauline Otting, Dolores Grilliot, and Fr. Graf, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Raterman attended the show at Minster on Monday night. The show was "Captain January," starring Shirley Temple. The show was a reward for the eighth grade in making the highest class median in Shelby county in the eighth grade state tests, held recently.

Raymond Geise, who graduated from the eighth grade at McCartyville four years ago, and recently from Anna high school brought honor to his community last week when he received the first prize as the best "Future Farmers News Reporter" in the state of Ohio. Raymond won this prize in competition with 200 other news reporters in the state. He was presented with a gold medal by the Ohio association of Future Farmers. During the afternoon of last Saturday he with other boys from Anna high school witnessed a game between Columbus and St. Paul base ball clubs as guests of the Columbus Red Birds. Raymond is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Geise, who live north east of here.

The "Just a Mere Cooking and Sewing Club" held their bi-monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon instead of evening due to the inability of one of its members to come in the evening because of her uncle's wedding. The "Busy Bee Shop Club" and "Better Stock Feeders Club" met at six o'clock in the evening with all members present except Louis Schroeder who was visiting with friends out of town. The "Shop Club's" officers are: Anthony Winner president, Urban Bensman secretary and treasurer, Elmer Meyer news reporter, Louis Schroeder vice president, and Virgil Bensman recreation leader. The advisors are: Norbert Schemmel and Clarence Raterman. The "Better Stock Club" led by Alfred Carity has the following officers: Raymond Heitman president, Wilbur Poeppelman vice president, Frank Thaman secretary, Bernard Prilling recreation leader, and Cletus Poeppelman news reporter. Cletus Poeppelman was elected to the office of news reporter due to the resignation of Elmer Watercutter. The Shop Club discussed the value of tools, squaring a board, the use and identification of different tools. The Stock Feeders discussed the value of having good stock, and the use of the farmer should make of the County Agent concerning farm problems. Some of the boys had the idea that the only thing the County Agent did was to lead the 4-H Clubs.

A special school board meeting was called on Thursday night, of last week. Due to the resignation of James O'Reilly, as member of the Board of Education, a new member was appointed. The new member is Julius Bensman, who will fill the balance of the four-year term, for which O'Reilly was elected. Mr. O'Reilly will continue to hold the position of clerk for which he was appointed in January for a two-year term. The board at present is made up of the following members: Anthony Winner, president, Joseph Riethman vice president, Arthur Seigle, Joseph Albers, Julius Bensman, and James O'Reilly, clerk. Sr. Theona Smith was rehired to teach the fourth and fifth grades, while Sr. Alphonsa Habig was rehired to teach the primary grades. If the state approves the arrangement regarding the transfer of the high school pupils from Anna to McCartyville, the board will probably hire a fourth teacher to teach the fifth and sixth grades. This teacher will in all probability be a lady lay teacher. This arrangement would give the school a chance to give school entertainments in the evening as well as the afternoon and at the same time provide the older girls with an athletic director and playground advisor. The Sisters of the Precious Blood have also informed the McCartyville board that they will not be able to supply an additional nun, even if they would so desire, due to the shortage of sisters for teaching positions.

HOG STEALING ANOTHER INDULGENCE

The officers in Auglaize county have been called upon during recent days to investigate some hog stealing episodes and in some cases there have been arrests and fines. In one instance a man and his wife were arrested and fined when they told a justice of the peace at Wapakoneta that they had in truth stolen a hog that belonged to another person. In addition to a fine that was assessed against the man he was given a jail sentence but the woman in the case suffered only a fine for her part in the affair.

Persons who remember things that occurred when this country was newer than it is now will recall that hog stealing was a "big business" in an earlier day. When there were hundreds of acres of timber covered land farmers would turn their hogs loose and let them forage for themselves for days at a stretch and it was when this system prevailed that the hog thief got his.

Some times when a herd would be rounded up several head would be missing. As the country got older and the hiding places got fewer the hog stealer quit stealing and the practice was just about extinct until within the past few weeks.

The motor car is proving a convenience to the new hog thief and he has perhaps injected himself into the reckoning again because of this fact. The thief of the former days didn't load his plunder onto a wagon and haul it to the market right away, but he just made the animal an individual in his own herd and dared the owner to prove the ownership.

Under the new system a stolen hog is likely to be ground up in sausage meat before the owner discovers that he is short one member of his herd. Sometimes the animal is killed on the lot where it is found and from that time on the job is easy. In order, of course, to make the "business" profitable there must be a marketing place and it is said that these places really exist in some of the cities in the country.

THE QUESTION OF ALL QUESTIONS

A national political campaign is ready to get under way and two parties that will leave not a stone unturned in order to capture votes will be in combat. Every man and some women who can be interesting on the political platform will be drafted to act as spell binders and the land will be stirred from center to circumference.

This campaign will have its new issues and the fellow who can go no further in his arguments than to explode about high protective tariff and free trade will not get many engagements. He will have to talk in plain every-day terms about the daily problems of the millions of people who only recently passed through the most distressing experience of any race of American citizens.

During a period of seventy years, with an occasional outburst of general interest in public affairs, the people in this rich land followed political leaders who tickled their ears with fancy orations that in fact meant nothing in so far as the affairs of the common masses were concerned. Finally there came a time of reckoning for this lethargical deportment and the people will not soon forget how terribly they suffered.

For approximately three years the whole social order was disturbed and just at the time when a new president was to take the oath of office the specter of revolution was causing apprehension. Political leaders will find that only some biased partisans have forgotten these dark days when the time comes to discuss national election matters with the common folks.

How can fathers and mothers forget that their children were cold and hungry in a land that could produce enough to keep almost the whole civilized world with food, and to spare? Midst the howls at a political convention the memories of these times may be curtailed, but they cannot be blotted out and no set of persons will learn this fact quicker than political leaders who seek to talk in platitudes.

ACCIDENTS WHEN VEHICLES PASS

By John Jaster, Jr. Ohio Highway Director

The passing of one vehicle by another oftentimes results in an accident, due either because each vehicle is not in its proper lane of traffic or because each driver is not alert.

The Ohio General Code legalizes the right hand side of the road. It also requires that a vehicle overtaking another vehicle shall signal to the vehicle to be overtaken and such vehicle shall immediately turn to the right to give the overtaking vehicle room to pass.

The driver of a vehicle overtaking another vehicle proceeding in the same direction shall not again pull over until safety clear of the overtaken vehicle, while the driver of the overtaken vehicle shall not increase the speed of his vehicle until completely passed by the overtaking vehicle.

In the event vehicles are proceeding on a road or highway marked with lanes, vehicles in one such lane or line may overtake or pass the vehicles in another such lane or line either upon the right or left except at an intersection, nor is a driver overtaking and passing another vehicle prohibited from passing upon the right vehicle making or about to make a left turn at an intersection.

Newport Club Was Beaten By Minster Team

In A Game That Was Played
In The Shelby County
Village Sunday

THE STING OF A MAD BEE

Played A Part In This Contest According To Newport's Manager

The Minster base ball team got the decision in their game at Newport on last Sunday afternoon when there was a very nifty exhibition on the diamond that is circled about one-half way by a peaceful little river. The team that represents the village in the center of Cynthiana township, Shelby county, is headed by Joe Lachey, popular furniture salesman who spends the week days amidst the tables, chairs, beds, etc. in the Daport store in Minster, while the Minster club is headed by Robert Meyer, well known local athlete.

The Newport team has a strictly home line-up, while the club that goes out from the Wooden Shoe town occasionally during the summer time has but one outside player in its line-up. Meyer combed the streets and alleys in this city without finding a long boy who was built to play first base and thus it was necessary for him to go into adjoining territory to round up such an individual. At St. Marys he found a young man by the name of Anderson who looked the part and since the opening of the season this boy has been Lou Gehriging around the initial sack.

The score for this game at the end of the last half of the ninth inning was 7 and 3, with the visiting club claiming the larger figure. While a difference of four runs in the totals isn't a bad matter for the members of the defeated team to muse about, yet the figures might have been closer had the players on the home team run buses with more caution, according to the comments made by their astute manager. Lachey said that some of the boys offered offenses that will start a shingle party in the woods shed at his home on state route forty-seven if they are repeated.

In telling his side of this base ball story the Newport manager said that his club went into this game with a damaged pitcher, which is a bad thing for any club—professional, independent or otherwise. The boy who was charged with the chucking duties is one of the many "chuckers" who help to make up the citizenship in and about Newport, and on this day he made his appearance at the playing field with a badly swollen right hand. A bee that was angry and ready to fight lit on the member, soaked his stinger way down deep into the flesh and the hand was ugly to start.

Schwartz was opposed on this occasion by Don Vanderhorst, high-pitched young man who knows how to fling the pellet in any man's base ball game. Since Vanderhorst had not had an encounter with a bee, or any other lightning creature there was nothing to prevent him from performing up to his best ticks. Newport's husky men pounded out some long hits off of the boy's offerings, but he stayed with his job until "The hot dog was hung," as the saying goes, and lead his club to a neat triumph.

The official report of this game, as submitted by Bill Massey, the official registrar for the Minster club, shows that one "Whitey" Vanderhorst had powder in his hat instead of wood. While making four official trips to the home plate he knocked out three bangles and that's something.

The game was tied up at the beginning of the sixth frame, but the visitors couldn't feel comfortable with knots in their craws, so they proceeded to raid themselves of these annoying things. Triples by Anderson and L. Vanderhorst and a double by "Fat" Fischer helped the team to three runs, while a wild heave by a Newport performer was a contributing element.

The Newport batters punched out seven hits and five of these were for extra bases. J. Barhorst got a home run and a triple, while Pitcher Schwartz also kicked in with a four base. L. Sherman got a pair of bin-gies, as also did "Fat" Fischer and Bachman.

Minster Man Found Dead

wife passed away. He is survived by two children, who are Raymond Weghorst at Minster and Mrs. Bernadette Heil at New Bremen. There is one grand child.

Save for a short time when the deceased resided in Cincinnati he spent all of his life in this city. During a certain period he was employed at the slack barrel factory here and later served The Minster Machine company as a moulder.

The deceased was a member of the Minster Aerie Fraternal Order of Eagles.

The funeral was held at the St. Augustine church in Minster on Thursday morning and the interment was made in the local cemetery.

"BLACK LEGION" DOING ITS STUFF

During every period in the history of America there has been some sort of organized wickedness to disturb society. Just recently the anti saloon league was doing its kind of business on a large scale and at the same time when it was overriding the laws of decency and honor the ku klux Klan was also making life unhappy for some good citizens.

In other years the white caps were the unscrupulous force that was attracting the attention of the public by spreading terror in many localities. Each one of the organizations was headed by intolerant men who felt that people who did not get onto their band wagons had no right to live and if they didn't promulgate orders to kill they did the next worst thing.

Of recent weeks the newspapers have been filled with stories that refer to the actions of a new organization that is known as the "Black Legion," and there are many chapters in these stories that cause the blood to curdle.

The legion's leaders operated within a short distance of Lima and they showed their weapons to a certain man who is a resident in Auglaize county. Some of the followers of the legion have said that it is the aim of the organization to overthrow the government and this will be a good reason for the civil officers to make a scatterment at every meeting that may be held. They will never get very far as an institution if they stand in direct opposition to constituted authority, but they will be less troublesome if their organization is broken up early.

One of the latest incidents in connection with the legion's plans related to the affairs of the daughter of governor Martin L. Davey. Authorities at Columbus were advised that a plot was in the making to kidnap the young woman and the matter aroused speculation in official circles at Columbus.

AS TO FIREWORKS

Notice is hereby given to all persons that the sale and use of fire works in Minster over the fourth of July period will be restricted to the time between midnight on Wednesday, July 1, and Saturday, July 4, at midnight. The public is urged to give consideration to this order.

Louis Drees, Mayor.

and dollars, four thousand of which loss was on the buildings that were destroyed. These buildings were erected during the year of 1900 and they were still strong and of ample accommodations for the family.

The loss might have been even greater if the firemen had not taken hold of their jobs with so much determination. They kept watch over the residence and some other buildings that stood north of the barns and were ready to fight back the fire whenever it threatened to touch the wood.

Some of the neighbors arrived at the site ahead of the firemen and they rendered first aid in the emergency. Since there was some live stock in the barn first attention was given to the matter of driving them to safe places and every individual was gotten away from the tumbling frames save two calves.

The farm where the fire occurred is owned by Mr. Riethman and its residence is occupied by himself, Mrs. Riethman and their four children. It was formerly known as the Casper Riethman farm.

The loss is partially covered by insurance.

While the blaze was lighting the skies people from almost every neighboring center made their ways to the scene and there were hundreds of cars parked along the country roads that ribbon through the territory.

Ancient Sanctions

Maccabees, the early Jewish historian, records the following example of sanctions applied in the days of the Roman empire— "If there come first any war upon the Romans . . . the people of the Jews shall help them . . . Neither shall they give anything to them that make war upon them, or aid them with victuals, weapons, money, or ships."

Wrote "Jesus Lover of My Soul"

"Modern Messages From Great Masters" says: "Charles Wesley stood at an open window. As he watched, a bird approached, pursued by a hawk. The bird flew to Wesley and nestled in his bosom. The great hymn writer was himself passing through a severe trial. The experience with the bird suggested his writing, 'Jesus, Lover of My Soul.'"

Delphi's Statues

Ancient Delphi, Greece, the most famous shrine in antiquity, was so full of statues that when Nero carried off 500 or so it was hardly noticed. The finest statue ever found there was the bronze charioteer which, buried by a fall of rock, was recovered by French excavators in almost perfect condition.

The Farthingale

A farthingale is a peep petticoat, originally distended with cones but later with whalebone or crinoline. It reached its most exaggerated form in the costume of the Seventeenth century, when the tops of women's skirts flared out almost at right angles to the bodice.

The Tinamou

The tinamou is a Mexican, Central American and northern South American game bird, somewhat resembling the partridge, but having a longer bill, smaller head and more slender neck. The wings are short and the tail rudimentary. The flesh is of delicious flavor.

Hummingbird Energetic

The tiny hummingbird, which weighs less than a penny, has more energy in its migratory flight than any other bird. It annually migrates to the coast of Florida and other Gulf states from whence it flies many miles across ocean waters to South America.

Place of Little Work

Lord Howe island, near the coast of Australia, comes as near Utopia as any place on earth. The island's one industry is the gathering of wild palm seeds, and the men of the island maintain their families with less than one hour's work per day.

Market Place Open Cemetery

Digging at Athens revealed that the famous Agora, the market place, had been used as a cemetery as early as 3000 B. C.

Stone in Palestine

Stone is abundant in Jerusalem and elsewhere in the land of Palestine, but is lacking in the Plain of Sharon.

Eskimos Brains

It is said that the brains of some Eskimos exceed in size of brain many European and American groups.

Italian Metals

Lead, copper and zinc are mined in considerable quantities in Italy, mostly in Sardinia.

AGITATION FOR NEW FIRE PROTECTION

Safety of property anywhere depends altogether on the tools that people work with at the time of a fire, as well as the efficiency of the organized firemen. Members of The Minster Commercial club took these matters into consideration when they began to agitate for some changes in this city. The men felt that everything is not up to standard here and they assumed the lead in starting a movement that may eventually make the necessary corrections.

Business men who have shown large interest in the agitation are particularly militant in urging the town officers to establish a rule by which the machinery at the fire company's department will have regular up-keep; a matter that has been given mention in this newspaper on other occasions. Sometimes the engine would not function up to its largest capacity when buildings were on fire and when the members of the company were putting forth their best efforts to prevent a possible calamity.

If this town was larger by three or four times than it is a paid company would be maintained and there would not be so great likelihood of such an embarrassing situation eventuating. There would be more fires and consequently the machinery would be set into motion more often, so that any break or knock would be detected perhaps immediately after it occurred. But since a paid company is not possible some other means must be provided to insure against such situations as is suggested in the lines above.

Minster has never had a fire that its citizens refer to as an epoch event in the history of the town, as was the case in Celina and in some other towns in this section of Ohio. Some buildings have been destroyed, but there has never been a row of houses reduced to ashes during one conflagration. Leading citizens believe, however, that such an occurrence is not beyond the pale of possibilities as conditions now exist at the fire company's headquarters.
