A Bit of News

Hello from the Care Center!
 We were all anxiously awaiting the news and it finally came on Monday. Our activity director, Kathleen Bruns had a healthy baby boy. Congratulations Kathleen & Greg!! We can hardly wait for a visit from the little one!
 We certainly picked the coldest day of the year to "Wish It Were A Summer Day" but many of us still donned our summer clothing to make it a special day. Some brave staff members even wore shorts!! We also enjoyed an afternoon of spelling with Doris York coming in first and Lena Bickel and Ellen Fields following her up. We enjoyed the many talents that came with the Darke County Harmonica Band on Saturday afternoon. We appreciate them coming for a return visit.
 Along with our regularly scheduled activities, Resident Council will meet on Friday, Feb. 17 at 1:00 pm. Linda Thieman will be entertaining us on Sunday, Feb. 19 at 2:00 pm and we will be playing cards on Tuesday, Feb. 21 at 3:00 pm. Until Next Week...

Hallmark Helps Adults Talk 'To Kids With Love'

"To Kids with Love" is a new line of cards from Hallmark created to help parents and other adults communicate with children, according to Jenni Dahlinghaus of Jenni's Hallmark, Eagles Acres Plaza, Minster.
 An industry first, the 106 cards are designed to praise or thank, to give encouragement or congratulations, to open the door to conversation or simply to say "I love you."
 Slipped inside a lunch box, tucked under a pillow or peeking out of a pocket, the cards remind kids they are thought about and considered important every day of the year—not just on birthdays, holidays and special occasions, according to Jenni Dahlinghaus.
 For example, a card that says "When you need someone to talk to, and you don't know who to see, I can always keep a secret—if you want, talk to me" lets a child know that it's okay to talk about anything.
 Cards that say "What a day! What a kid! What a neat thing you did!" or "To me, you're always a winner!" let kids know that you notice and that you care.
 Other cards deal with such difficult situations as death, moving to a new home, divorce or separation from someone important. Love and support are the basis of the messages.
 While cards are not intended to take the place of a parent or other adult communicating directly with a child, they can enhance such communication. A major benefit of cards for kids is that they open the door and reinforce the idea that it's good to communicate, according to Jenni's Hallmark.

 Hallmark created "To Kids with Love" in response to a need indicated by studies that revealed that parents of the nation's 26 million 7-to-14-year-olds want to talk more with their children.

 The cards, available in January 1989, are at Jenni's Hallmark and other Hallmark retail outlets across the nation, according to Jenni Dahlinghaus. Individual cards sell for 90 cents each and the variety pack of six sells for $4.50.

University of Iowa and then to Wright State University where an instructor called attention to his "god-given artistic talent." Bob then graduated from WSU Magna Cum Laude with a bachelors of fine arts in 1970. He went on to the Maryland Institute College of Art where he received a masters of fine arts in 1973.
 In 1978-79 he built his own studio utilizing the masonry skill he had gained working for Freytag Masonry in Minster.
 Of his sculpture, Richard Sober said, "He creates a world of sacred objects devoid of superfluous matter.

These objects are questions about our relationship to nature, not only as a physical environment, but a spiritual one as well....Aselage's work in stone, wire, paint, and wood is a breath of fresh air.
 These wood sculptures are made in and for contemplation...His work does not offer quick sensory pleasure or accessibility and that's why his reconstructions are worth looking at and traveling in....I think things have voices, then Aselage makes wood and stone sing...His resorations are essentially conversations with nature and spirituality."

Local Dealer Attends National Meeting

A rich heritage and a solid future was the theme at the 1989 White Farm Equipment Dealer Conference in Chicago on February 3-5. Metzger Bros. Implements in Minster attended the three day conference with other dealers from the U.S. and Canada to get their first look at new products.

The three day event included a pass through time with the evolution of White Farm Equipment, Oliver, Minneapolis-Moline. Cockshutt and Hart-Parr were also a part of this heritage of White and dealers had the chance to take a look at some of the old models.

White-New Idea Farm Equipment has over 160 years of experience in the farm equipment industry. Oliver is known for the invention of the chilled plow. Minneapolis-Moline had the first tractor with a cab in 1938. Cockshutt developed the first independent live PTO for tractors. And Hart-Parr made the first production tractor.

Metzger Bros. main objective in attending the meeting was to acquaint themselves with the new White products for 1989. White Farm Equipment introduced another first to the industry with their new American Series tractors. The two new models have 60 and 80 PTO horsepower and include a choice of colors: White Silver, Oliver Green, Minneapolis-Moline Gold, or Cockshutt Red. A recent survey done by White-New Idea at farm shows indicated that farm customers would like to have a choice in the color of tractors. To answer these needs, White Farm Equipment brings another first to the tractor industry.

Metzger Bros. also had the chance to look at the new tillage equipment and planters that will be made available in 1989 and 1990.

The White-New Idea Farm Equipment Division of Allied Products Corporation is a major manufacturer and distributor with over 1500 dealers in North America. The White Farm Equipment line includes tractors, planters and tillage equipment.

Diabetic Education Certified By Medicare

Outpatient Diabetic classes at Joint Township District Memorial Hospital in St. Marys, were recently certified for reimbursement by Medicare. According to Mary Lou McCourtie, R.N., Certified Diabetic Educator, "we have been working for two years to meet the stringent Medicare criteria. With Medicare covering the cost, more diabetics will be able to receive the necessary instruction for dealing with their disease."

McCourtie says that "Education can have an effect on the individual's health as well as save money. For example, some hospital admissions could be avoided if patients knew, and practiced, diabetic "sick day rules". Our program at Joint Township Hospital should have a big impact locally in improving comprehensive education for people with diabetes."

Mrs. McCourtie will be the program coordinator with other Joint Township Hospital instructors being Lorna Seas, Dietitian; Don Dixon, Physician Therapist; and Larry Johns, Pharmacist. For more information, please contact Joint Township Hospital at 394-3335, extension 2147.

Steel Drum Band to Perform

The distinct sounds of the Caribbean will warm the midwestern winter cold of Shelby County February 20th when the St. Bernard-Elmwood High School Steel Drum Band performs in Sidney. The 7:30 PM concert, co-sponsored by the Shelby County Band Director's Association and the Gateway Arts Council, will be presented at Sidney High School. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for students through high school.

The band, consisting of fifteen students from 8th through 12th grade and directed by Mrs. Janet Davis, is the only high school steel drum band in Ohio. Their repertoire of music varies from the traditional calypso sounds of Trinidad where "pan" (steel drum) originated, to classical and reggae styles. They perform for an average of twenty local, state and national functions per year including summer engagements.

The band has a total of 34 hand-crafted pans ranging from full-sized 55 gallon oil drums to sawed-off versions depending on the desired range of pitch from bass to soprano. The unique metallic sound of the steel drum is gaining widespread popularity with music lovers of all ages. The music, when mixed with the tropical heat, makes for an unbeatable combination that shouldn't be missed.

The concert is part of a series of enrichment activities for the 1989 Shelby County Junior High School Honors Band. In addition to the public performance, the steel drum band will provide a clinic for members of the honors band earlier in the afternoon.

For additional information about the concert, contact Bill Milhoan at 492-5930, 1654, or after 4 PM at 492-7437.

Students Develop Dream Stories

by Thomas Teckman

Dream Stories were the result of a recent art and writing project in which Fort Loramie Elementary School first graders worked with Junior High School eighth graders.

For the first part of the project, first graders in Cathy Kuhn's class created "something like a dream" using ordinary objects found around the room. Students used such things as straws, paper cups, milk cartons, and scraps of construction paper to build a three-dimensional vision of a dream.

The next part of the project involved Janis Hunter's eighth grade composition class. Each first grader showed his project to an eighth grader and then told a story to go along with the project. The eighth graders wrote the stories, as told to them, printed them up, and put them on display with the art projects.

According to Kuhn, the first graders have a very creative imagination, but they needed help in putting a story down on paper. Hunter explained that this is where the skills of the eighth graders came into play.

Hunter says the eighth graders helped the younger students to develop a full story, based on their knowledge of such things as conflict, plot, and character. They also used their knowledge of writing and vocabulary to write the story down.

"The first graders," adds Hunter, "had the opportunity to envision a creative, detailed story, which the eighth graders put on paper for them." In addition to helping first graders, Hunter says the project also helped eighth graders develop their listening and writing skills.

Tri-Star Offers Early Placement

With the last grading period of the school year under way, Tri Star Career Compact is again offering the Early Placement program to area employers. Early placement allows senior students enrolled in various high school vocational programs to be excused from school early to utilize their skills at a job site. This is an excellent opportunity for employers to hire a student worker on a trial basis with the option of retaining the person if the need arises.

Students from the Career Compact's nine participating school districts gain valuable work experience and an early jump on practicing good work ethics.

Employers interested in the Early Placement program should contact Tri Star Career Compact at (419)586-7060.

Loramie Students Vote for Best Book

by Thomas Teckman

Fort Loramie Elementary School students recently had the opportunity to vote for their favorite books as part of the Buckeye Children's Book Award program, according to media specialist William Courtney.

Student voting took place in two categories: grades kindergarten through two and grades three through five. In each category, students were to choose their favorite from a list of ten books. The tabulated list was then sent to Columbus, where it will be compiled with voting from other schools across Ohio.

Winning in the K-2 category was Peggy Parish's Amelia Bedelia Goes Camping, a humorous story in which a maid who takes every word at its face value goes on a camping trip.

The winner in the 3-5 category is Robert Smith's The War With Grandpa. In this story a young boy is thrilled to learn that his grandfather is coming to live with him. But when he finds out that he has to give up his room, he decides that it will take a war to regain it. Grandpa, on the other hand, has his own ideas for keeping his room.

According to Courtney, the ten books on each list have been available for students to read this past semester. The titles, he adds, came from a nomination by elementary school teachers and librarians throughout the state.

St. Boniface Meets

The regular meeting of St. Boniface Auxiliary #265 of Minster was held on Jan. 23rd with 19 members present. The rosary was prayed for the repose of the souls of Mae King and Bernadette Dickman. Bills were presented and a motion was made to pay them. Thank you cards and notes from various members were read. Our annual card party will be held on March 12th at 2:00 PM at the K of C Hall in Minster, Ohio.

After the meeting cards were played with prizes going to Mary Kemper 1st, Dorothy Wold 2nd, and Thekla Bergman 3rd. Then cookies and coffee was served. Next meeting will be Feb. 27th at 8:00 P.M.

The Buckeye Children's Book Award Program, explains Courtney, was established in 1981 to encourage children to read literature critically. He said the program also commends authors of children's literature, along with involving teachers and librarians. In this program students cast votes every other year. In 1987, 186,886 votes were cast by Ohio's children.

The Buckeye Children's Book Award Program is sponsored by the Ohio Council International Reading Association, the Ohio Council of Teachers of English Language Arts, the Ohio Department of Education, the Ohio Educational Library Media Association, and the State Library of Ohio.

Despite the Rumors...

THERE'S STILL PLENTY OF INTEREST IN AN IRA!

No matter what you've heard, a lot of people are saving for retirement with an IRA. That's because today's IRA still offers tax-deferred interest on all your deposits—which can add up to plenty over the years!

Another thing: If you were eligible for an IRA before tax reform, you still are. That's because the tax law changes did NOT affect eligibility requirements. Plus...you may even be able to claim a full or partial deduction for your contributions.

So, all rumors aside...stop in today. We'll show you how there's still plenty of interest for you in an IRA!

Fort Loramie School News

by Thomas Teckman

Fort Loramie Elementary School book fair will be held February 13-17 in the home economics room from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

According to media specialist William Courtney, a wide assortment of paperback books, book marks, posters and cassette tapes will be on display throughout the week. Students will have the opportunity to select and purchase their own choices, or they may place orders in the event a given title is not available.

The books will be displayed in five different reading levels: beginning, intermediate, advanced, junior high, and all ages. Most books range in cost from $1 to $5, with profits from the book fair going to support school reading activities.

Courtney invites adults to stop in also. He says that this would be an excellent opportunity to purchase books for birthdays. A catalog of books that will be available will be sent home with each student before the book fair begins.

The book fair, he says, give students a chance to purchase books that the school library does not have. "By giving students a chance to buy their own books," Courtney adds, "the book fair also encourages children to be readers for life."

"We want to show students that reading is a lot of fun," Courtney continues, "but it also helps to build the skills that children need to achieve success."

Helping Courtney with the book fair are the school's library aides: Vic Albers, Joan Maurer, and Delores Gaerke.

Fort Loramie High School recently took on the look of a polling place on November election day, as two voting machines were installed in the media center.

Students this year had the opportunity to use the voting machines to cast their votes for the 1989 Homecoming king and queen. In a simulation of real voting, students had to sign a class listing and then were given a secret ballot, which they used in the voting machine.

Once all students had voted, the ballots were taken to the Shelby County Board of Elections, where they were tabulated on computer. According to principal Michael Roche, this not only ensured a fair election, but it also kept the results a secret until the actual Homecoming crowning.

Social studies teacher Ken Sowards, who arranged this method of voting, said that students had the opportunity to familiarize themselves with the voting procedures adults use every time they exercise their right to vote.

Voting machines, computer cards, ballots, and tabulation of votes were all donated by the Shelby County Board of Elections.

The annual Fort Loramie High School orientation for eighth grade students and their parents will be held Monday, February 13, beginning at 7 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Guidance counselor Dan Hegemier will explain the requirements eighth graders will need to meet in high school for the college preparatory and honors programs. He will also explain the requirements for attendance at the Upper Valley Joint Vocational School.

High School principal Michael Roche will explain the rules and regulations of Fort Loramie High School, along with athletic eligibility requirements. Other topics for the program will include what colleges want high school students to be taking and how to study in school.

Following these presentations will be an open house, where students and parents can tour the building and meet with high school teachers in their classrooms.

Hegemier encourages all eighth graders and their parents to attend this program. "We want the students to be prepared for high school as soon as they walk in the door as freshman," says Hegemier.

Making a mask was the culminating project for Fort Loramie Junior High School students in art class, according to teacher Cindy Marso.

For the project each student paired off with a partner. Then the student was to make a statement about that person, by making a personal mask which expresses the partner's personality.

In addition to making the mask, each student then had the opportunity to judge his partner on how well personality was expressed.

According to Marso, the project not only excited students about art, but it also introduced the idea of making an artist's statement.

A variety of activities have been planned for 1989 FHA Week by members of the Fort Loramie High School chapter of the Future Homemakers of America.

Each day of the week has been set aside for a special activity, according to advisor Nancy Archer. Sunday, February 5, members will attend church with their families.

Monday is color day. On this day members will wear red and white, the FHA colors. Also they will wear an FHA sticker on their faces throughout the day.

Tuesday features a special assembly for the student body, when the U.S. Air Force Band will entertain. FHA members will be responsible for welcoming the group to the school and providing them with refreshments and signs.

Wednesday is Member Day. On this day members will have a special treat in the Home Ec room: a banana split bar. The group will purchase ice cream, and members will bring in their favorite toppings. During lunch time, then, members of the Fort Loramie chapter will have the opportunity to enjoy a special dessert.

Thursday will have the student body voting for Mr. Legs of Fort Loramie High School. Photographs of the legs of several students and staff members will be on display. For five cents students can cast their vote for the best looking pair of legs. The winning Mr. Legs will receive a pair of socks.

The school week concludes with the delivery of Valentine's Day flowers. Last week students took orders for carnations and roses. According to Archer this is a traditional service for Valentine's Day.

FHA Week finally concludes with members doing something with their families on Saturday.

In addition to the daily activities, there will be a bulletin board display, "Nutrition Nonsense," which will explain the misconceptions and misinformation about nutrition. Flyers will also be given to students detailing the nutritional content of various fast foods.

During the week public address announcements will be made calling attention to the local chapter activities display at Borchers Store in Fort Loramie. The display consists of pictures of chapter activities throughout the course of the past year. This board will then be entered at the regional rally in March.

Camp Brookside was the site of a recent environmental education program for Fort Loramie Elementary School fifth graders.

The day-long program, sponsored by the Appleseed Ridge Girl Scout Council, had the outdoor staff at Camp Brookside teaching classes in animal adaptation, trail tracking, and birds.

With the aid of mammal study skins, students learned what characterizes a mammal and how they are adapted for survival. Students then searched for animal clues such as tracks and fur.

Finally, students had the opportunity to handle bird study skins and to observe first hand the local bird life.

Writing Across The Curriculum

Teachers, student teachers and education majors will want to attend the presentation and panel discussion by local teachers who have designed and implemented Writing Across the Curriculum programs in their classrooms.

Sally Roberts (Menlow Park, Huber Heights) designed a unit which increased her students' understanding and knowledge of history, social studies, geography and science through reading and writing. Nedra Mielke (West Elementary, St. Marys) prepared a unit which compared the problems of early settlers to those of future space pioneers. The unit created by Margaret Howell (Bellefontaine High School, Bellefontaine) centered on an individualized reading course where students kept a journal of their reading and analyzed the works they read.

All these programs and the results will be examined during a panel discussion on Tuesday, February 21 in Reed Hall on the Lima Campus of The Ohio State University. Panel participants will include Sally Roberts, Nedra Mielke, Margaret Howell and Dr. Theresa Stewart, Assistant Professor of Educational Theory and Practice at Ohio State Lima.

The workshop will begin at 4:30. The $6 registration fee will include dinner. The deadline for registration is February 10.

For further information, contact Mary Bensman at 419/221-1641, extension 409.

Record Earnings

We are pleased to report that Diamond has posted record after-tax earnings for 1988, ranking us in the top 30 percent of the best-performing savings institutions in the nation. Our balance sheet is in the strongest condition in the history of the company, and our capital (net worth) is currently over $39 million. During last year, we also had savings deposit growth of $60 million, further evidence of our customers' confidence in Diamond.

To make banking more convenient and responsive to your needs, new services will be added during 1989. We will introduce a combined statement for checking customers that consolidates their savings account relationships with Diamond on one monthly statement. We will begin offering VA and FHA mortgages to help more families realize their dreams of home ownership.

Diamond has grown stronger by working closely with the people we serve. We never forget that it's our customers who keep us in business. We are committed to continuous improvement in everything we do for you, our customers, today and in the future.

Fort Loramie School News

by Thomas Teckman

Fort Loramie High School is currently celebrating Vocational Education Week. The Home Economics, Business, and Industrial Arts Departments are using this week to call special attention to the work of their students.

In addition to announcements, a bulletin board display, spotlighting the students at work in their vocational classes and labs, has been set up in the school cafeteria. Another bulletin board display has been created in conjunction with Future Homemakers of America Week.

As part of Vocational Education Week, plans have been established to show off the talents of Fort Loramie students and to recognize them for their efforts. On May 16 the fourth annual display of vocational projects from industrial arts, home economics and business education classes will be held. This event occurs along with the annual high school pop concert. Parents and friends are invited to see the various vocational projects students have undertaken.

Finally, it was announced that again this year there will be a presentation of Outstanding Vocational Student at the end of the year. This award will be presented to the outstanding student in business education, in economics, and in industrial arts.

Fort Loramie Elementary School fifth graders are currently participating in a new anti-drug program in Ohio: Project D.A.R.E.

The project stands for Drug Abuse Resistance Education, and it is being conducted by Detective Dennis Brown, of the Shelby County Sheriff's Department. Every Monday, for a total of 17 weeks, Brown spends the morning with Fort Loramie fifth graders.

In addition to presenting lessons on drugs and alcohol, decision-making, peer pressure, and alternatives to drug use, Brown interacts on a personal level with the students, eating lunch with them and being with them on the playground.

Project D.A.R.E. is a preventive program originally developed in Los Angeles to equip youth with the skills to resist peer pressure to experiment with and use harmful drugs. Its primary focus in Ohio has been with fifth and sixth graders, since these students are the most responsive to prevention education, having not yet been introduced to drugs and alcohol.

Detective Brown is the only officer in Shelby County currently qualified to run this program, having received extensive training working with students. He uses a variety of activities to involve students in group discussions and to promote exchange of ideas and feelings.

According to Fort Loramie Elementary School principal Madeline Maurer, "This program is a very positive direction to go in for anti-abuse education." She says she is very impressed with this as a well-planned program, which is not only educational for the students, but also gives them a positive relationship with law enforcement officials.

Project D.A.R.E. is sponsored by Attorney General Anthony J. Celebrezze, Jr., the Ohio Association of Chiefs of Police, and the Ohio Department of Education.

Family heritages have recently been traced by Fort Loramie Elementary School fourth graders in many Anthony's social studies class.

According to Anthony, the class has been studying where various people in Ohio and Fort Loramie in particular have come from. To show this concept, Anthony had students research their own family backgrounds.

For the project, students were to talk with their parents and grandparents and then formulate their own family going back two generations. The family trees have been recorded on prepared forms and are currently on display in the hallway beside the fourth grade classroom.

Tickets to Cincinnati Reds baseball games have recently been presented to 15 Fort Loramie Junior High School students. Tickets are presented as part of the Cincinnati Reds-Dayton Daily News Straight "A" Program.

Seventh graders earning a straight A for the second grading period include: Tiffany Wendeln, Scott Albers, and Dan Gaier.

Eighth graders earning a straight A are: Ben Laux, Sarah DeLoye, Mindy Drees, Lisa Fullenkamp, Chad Gaier, Ryan Hoying, Jeanette Moeller, Molly Saders, Heather Schafer, Molly Schmiesing, Jenny Timmerman, and Julie Timmerman.

These students will each receive two sets of tickets to two Cincinnati Reds baseball games.

Political cartoons were recently created by Fort Loramie Junior High School seventh graders in Janis Hunter's American History class.

The cartoons were a culmination of a unit on propaganda. According to Hunter, the class has recently been studying how propagandists in colonial times used ideas to influence other to join a patriotic cause.

After discussing how a cartoon can be propaganda, students had to create their own political cartoon to show the colonial reactions to the tea tax.

In this project, says Hunter, "Students used symbols to represent an idea, and they used reader emotions to stress a viewpoint."

"Keep out of the gutter," was the advice of Fort Loramie High School physical education teacher Sue Kaufman has been giving her students during a recent unit on bowling.

Two days a week, for the past three weeks, the Fort Loramie physical education classes have been traveling to the Minster Bowling Alley. In addition to learning the basics of bowling, such as line-up and approach, students have also been learning how to keep score manually.

According to Kaufman, the main reason for going bowling is to "give students a taste of a life-time activity." She says bowling is a very popular activity which many adults enjoy at all ages. "Students need to learn about activities which they can easily engage in later in life," adds Kaufman.

Another reason for bowling is that it is not a team sport. Kaufman explains that so many of the sports experienced in physical education classes are team sports. "But bowling gives students the opportunity to do something by themselves."

State Superintendent Walter Optimistic About Increase In Current State Budget Proposal

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Franklin B. Walter expressed optimism on Friday (Jan. 27) that Governor Richard F. Celeste and the Ohio General Assembly will resolve the "inadequacy" of the current state budget proposal for education.

Walter pointed out that the current proposal provides for a $531 million increase—one-third of what is needed—for elementary and secondary education during the next two years.

"The governor, legislators, and the education community share the goal of providing a world-class education for Ohio's schoolchildren," Walter said. "I am confident that the General Assembly will come to grips with the issue."

The State Superintendent issued his remarks on the heels of his testimony on Thursday (Jan. 26) before the Ohio House of Representatives Finance Committee. In his testimony, he emphasized the needs of Ohio education and the shortfall in the proposed budget for elementary and legislators. Earmarking a fixed percent of the state budget for education is not necessary, Walter said.

Walter expressed particular concern for the lack of proposed funding for education programs in such areas as early childhood education, reading assistance, enrichment and remediation summer school, school-to-work transportation, secondary education.

Additionally, Walter praised the work of the Education 2000 Commission and the State Board of Education. The State Board is recommending an education package that carries a $7.95 billion price tag—a $1.6 billion increase over the current biennium. The amount is comparable to that recommended by the Commission, which has proposed a one percent tax increase.

The State Superintendent reinforced his support for a tax increase to meet educational needs. Walter has historically exercised his belief that state-tax decisions should be made by teacher-education loans, teacher training, and at-risk student needs.

"Ohio has reached a point where large numbers of its education programs are serving as models for the nation," Walter said. "Now is not the time to pull the targeted funding away from successful programs."

Walter cited, for example, the nationwide recognition of successes with such Ohio programs as Reading Recovery, which helps first-grade students acquire reading skills; jobs for Ohio's graduates, which focuses on the school-to-work transition; and Graduation, Reality, and Dual-Role Skills, which assists teen parents in completing their high school education.

"We must continue to expand on our successes; we must continue to tear down barriers and raise expectations for the brightest and the slowest," Walter said.

Kiwanis Hosts Dr. Kevin T. Hanzel

On Wednesday, February 8th Dr. Kevin T. Hanzel was the guest speaker at the noon meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Minster. He was introduced to the membership by President Halver Belcher. In his opening remarks the doctor gave a brief review of his education noting that he was a graduate of Ohio State University and the Ohio State College of Podiatric Medicine. He spent a year of residency in foot surgery at the Topeka V.A. Medical Center, Topeka, Kansas. Upon completing his residency he located his practice in Euclid, Ohio, and he worked there until his recent move to Minster. Using a mock-up of a foot he proceeded to explain that there are 28 bones and 206 ligaments in a persons foot.

He stated that the major cause of foot problems is weight and heredity. Also certain occupations such as dentist, clerks, bus drivers, mailmen which require long hours on being on their feet can cause foot problems for them. He also discussed corns and calusis and proper treatment for them. One thing he mentioned that causes more problems than anything else is the fact that people do not purchase proper fitting shoes and this will in time promote problems for them with regard to sores on their heels and toes. He also mentioned that people should have several pairs of shoes so that they can change often to give the shoes a chance to air out. He covered various brand names of shoes for the person who does jogging or runs in races to give them the best fit and comfort for their money. Following his talk he held a short question and answer period for the members. Before adjourning the meeting President Belcher thanked Dr. Hanzel for his appearance before the clubs membership and presented him with a "Certificate of Appreciation".

Learning Outcomes

by Ivan Knapp

In last week's article, the upcoming statewide testing was summarized: locally-designed competency tests in reading, math, and language arts; and proficiency tests in reading, writing, math, and citizenship.

The State Board of Education is announcing the learning outcomes for the twelfth grade proficiency tests. These outcomes in reading, writing, math, and citizenship will be used by a private company selected by the state department of education to design the test.

Here are the learning outcomes for twelfth grade math:

1. compare, order, and determine equivalence of real numbers.
2. estimate answers, compute, and solve problems involving real numbers.
3. determine area and volume.
4. estimate and use measurements.
5. organize data into tables, charts, and graphs.

6. read, interpret, and use tables, charts, and graphs to identify patterns, note trends, draw conclusions, and make predictions.
7. determine probabilities of events involving unbiased objects.
8. translate verbal statements into symbolic language.
9. simplify algebraic expressions
10. set up and solve linear equations.
11. solve quadratic equations.
12. solve systems of linear equations with two variables.
13. graph linear functions.
14. use of the law of exponents (including scientific notation).
15. apply the pythagorean theorem.
16. use deductive reasoning.
17. describe and apply the properties of similar and congruent figures.
18. determine slope, mid-point, and distance.

19. demonstrate an understanding of angles and parallel and perpendicular lines.

Let's see—if a student passes this test, he gets a Diploma of Distinction or a Diploma of Commendation (if he meets additional state requirements).

If he doesn't pass this exam, but passes the ninth grade proficiency test, he gets a Diploma of Basic Competency. If he doesn't pass the ninth grade proficiency test, but completes the curriculum, he gets a "certificate of attendance." Or at least that's how the four-tier diploma system is supposed to work.

Do you remember linear equations, the laws of exponents, or the pythagorean theorem?

Davis Moves Strengthen Teaching Profession

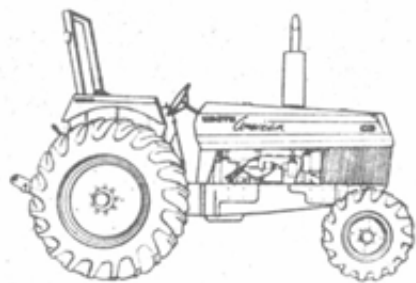

State Representative Jim Davis (R-81st, St. Marys) announced today that he is co-sponsoring the Alternate Certification Program, a measure to strengthen Ohio's teaching profession.

The proposal would allow professionals to bring their particular work skills and talents into the classroom without having to return first to college for a teaching certificate. For example, a professional chemist, current or retired, would be eligible to teach chemistry in Ohio schools.

"The Alternative Certification Program is an innovative concept that has proven its success in other states," said Rep. Davis. "This legislation will help better prepare Ohio's students for today's world."

The bill now awaits House Committee assignment.

Ohio State Fair Board looking for students

The Ohio State Fair is on the lookout for musically talented Ohio high school students, grades 9-11, to apply for membership in the 1989 All Ohio State Fair Band.

The All Ohio State Fair Band has been a featured attraction at the Ohio State Fair since 1925. It is comprised of 300 of Ohio's finest high school musicians, making it one of the largest marching and performing bands in the nation.

One of the band's goals is to have participants from all 88 Ohio counties.

"Participating in the band is a unique musical and social experience," said

Omar P. Blackman, band director since 1970.

The 21-day camp offers a valuable opportunity to perform more than 60 pieces of music of varied styles and periods, Blackman added. Band members work with a superior staff of 15 music educators throughout the state.

Interested high school musicians may obtain an application from their local school band director, or may write directly to: Omar P. Blackman, 5190 West 151st St., Cleveland, OH 44142-1741.

Applications must be submitted by March 24, 1989. The 1989 Ohio State Fair is Aug. 3-20.

Diamond Announces Record Year

"Diamond Savings and Loan Company has posted record after-tax earnings for 1988, ranking us in the top 30 percent of the best performing savings institutions in the nation," according to Dave Boise, assistant vice president and regional manager.

During 1988 Diamond showed savings deposit growth of $60 million and has capital (net worth) of over $39 million. Diamond Savings is the 14th largest savings and loan in Ohio with assets of over $850 million.

"Our balance sheet is also in the strongest condition it has ever been in the history of the company," Boise stated.

For the second year, Diamond was presented the Silver Star award for its exceptional financial performance by the Dana Corporation, Diamond's parent company. Dana is a Fortune 150 company operating in the manufacturing and financial service sectors with almost $5 billion in annual sales. The Silver Star award is presented to Dana divisions for exceeding their yearly profit forecast.

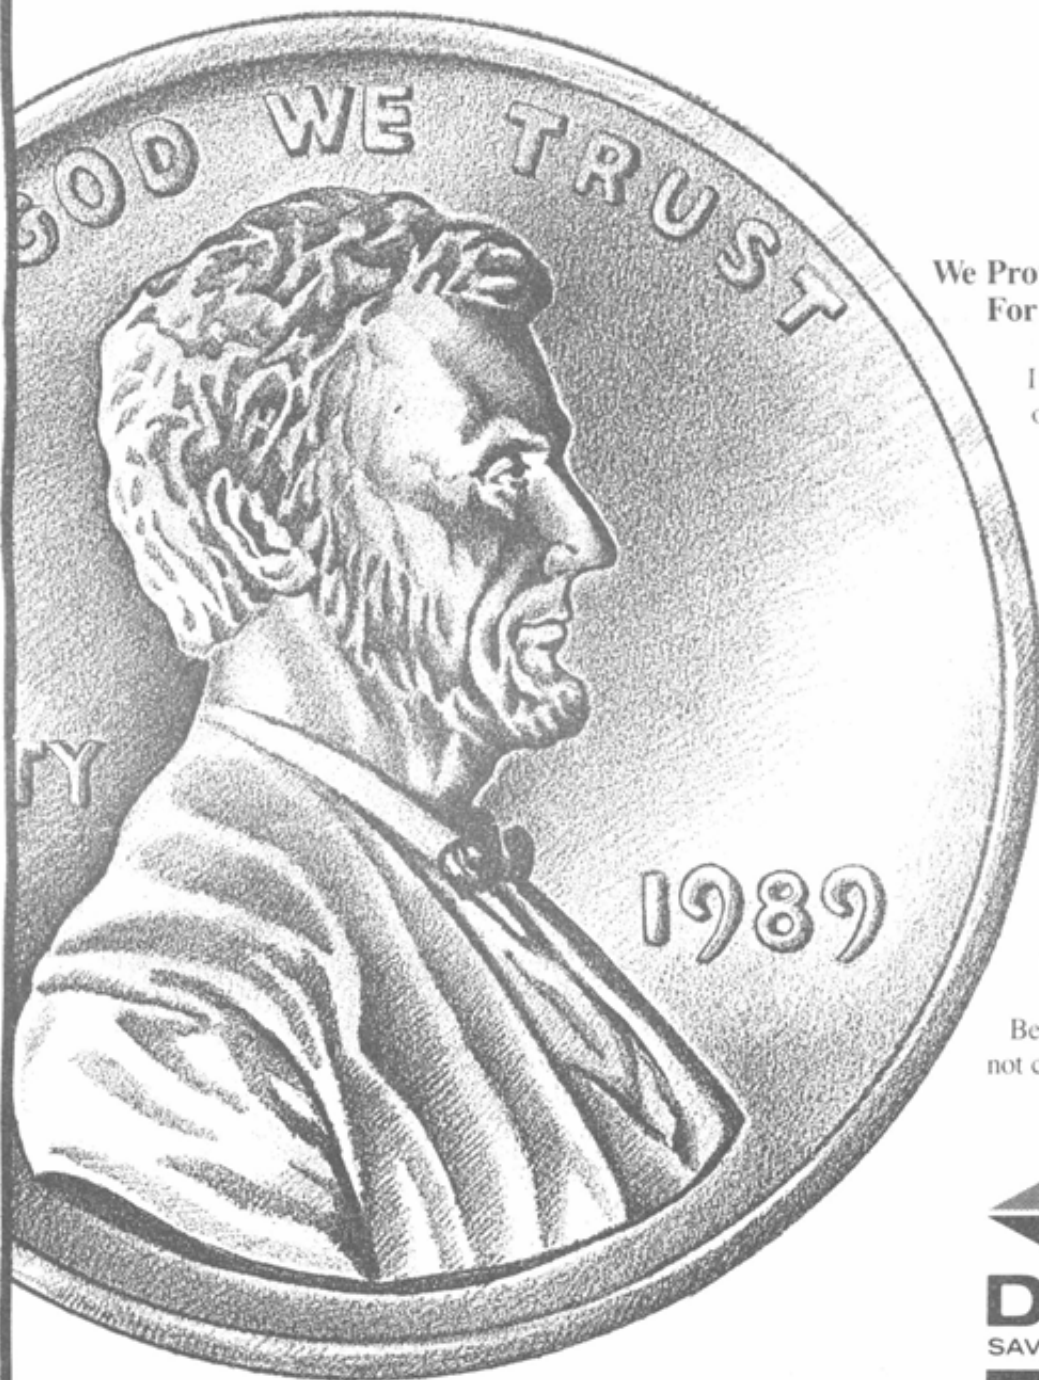

"Coming off a strong, profitable year, we will continue to plan ahead and offer competitive products and services to our customers," said Liz Hoelscher, Minster branch manager.

Hoelscher said, "In looking ahead to 1989, Diamond Savings will focus on the residential mortgage market by offering VA and FHA government-insured loans to help more families realize their dreams of home ownership. We will also place heavier emphasis on commercial and consumer lending."

"We also plan to begin offering a combined statement for checking customers that consolidates their savings account relationships with Diamond on one monthly statement," Hoelscher added.

"Diamond has grown stronger by working closely with the people we serve. We never forget that it's our customers who keep us in business. We are committed to continuous improvement in everything we do for our customers today and in the future," concluded Hoelscher.

The New Knoxville Rangers kissed any chance they had of winning the MAC title good-bye Friday night when they suffered a 72-50 blow-out loss at the hands of the Coldwater Cavaliers.

The game was Coldwaters' from the opening tip. The Cavaliers outscored the Rangers 14-2 to open up the game.

New Knoxville made a late first-quarter run, but he opening period ended 16-8 in favor of the Cavaliers.

"This was our roughest night of the year. The game was basically over in the first quarter when they had a 14-point lead." Ranger Coach Dennis Henschen said.

New Knoxville made a slight run in the second quarter and closed the gap to 21-15 with 5:15 to play in the half.

The Cavaliers then finished the half by outscoring the Rangers 13-6 to take a 13-point lead at the intermission. Eric Winner had six points during the run and finished the game with 15 points and 11 rebounds.

"We had good balance inside and outside. This was one of our better games." Coldwater Coach Jim Niekamp commented.

The Cavaliers finished the game with 10 rebounds more than the Rangers, who also had 19 turnovers on the game.

"We weren't aggressive enough to match up with Coldwater. We thought we were quick enough, but we didn't prove it tonight." Henschen said.

The Rangers made another run at the start of the third period, but Tony Dues, who finished with four 3-pointers, and Mike Kaiser were on fire from the outside and enabled the Cavaliers to keep pace.

"Our point guard has played well all year. Tony helped." Niekamp said, referring to Dues, who finished with 21 points.

Coldwater was able to increase its lead to 23 points at the end of the third quarter behind Winner's five points in the quarter's final minute.

"Our defense was not up to what Coldwater did. We started man-to-man control their outside game and inside cuts hurt us so we went to the zone, which did nothing," a frustrated Henschen said.

The fourth quarter was mop-up time, as both teams went to the bench. Coldwater proved that it had deep outside shooting capabilities as two reserves connected on 3-point bombs.

New Knoxville outscored the Cavaliers 14-13 for the quarter, making the final 72-50 Coldwater.

With the win Coldwater moves to 10-7 overall and 7-2 in the MAC.

The Rangers, who play tonight at Arlington, fell to 8-9 overall and 6-2 in the MAC.

In the junior varsity game Friday, New Knoxville pulled out a 55-54 thriller in overtime.

Loramie grounds Flyers

by Mike Boerger

After the long wait due to puddles that formed on the playing surface in Marion Local, the Fort Loramie Redskins and Marion Local Flyers squared off in a neutral battlefield in St. Henry Sunday at 2:00. After the long wait for the game, it turned into a game Marion would like to forget. Loramie nailed down their 17th win of the season to just 3 defeats as they handed the Flyers their 10th defeat in a 64-27 rout.

Marion's defense got to Loramie early on in the game but after the first quarter, it was all Loramie. The first quarter ended with Loramie ahead 8-4. Loramie figured out the Flyer defense in the second quarter 17-10 to take a 25-14 lead at the intermission. Loramie kept building the lead in the third quarter. By this time in the game, Loramie had built up a sizable margin at 37-20.

Loramie kept up the pace in the final stanza as the Redskins outscored the Flyers 27-7 to finish the game with a 64-27 victory.

Tom Brandewie overcame yet another record as he grabbed 18 rebounds on his way to a triple-double with 32 points and 11 rejections, his new record included his 934 rebound which took the record away from his uncle, Doug Brandewie who had 930 in his career at Loramie.

Brandewie was one of the two players in double figures as he added 32 and teammate Chuck Barhorst added 11 for the Redskins. Huelsman led the way for Marion with 7.

The reserve game was much the same with the Redskins taking another win by a large margin as they defeated the Flyers 57-35. Loramie was led by Chad Gasson who scored 24 including 7 three-point goals for the contest.

Flyers survive Minster rally

EL Staff Sports Writer

The Minster Wildcats overcame a 15-point halftime deficit but, despite a torrid-paced comeback, still came up short as the Marion Local Flyers won 46-44 on the 'Cats' home floor Friday.

The game began at a snail's pace but increased in intensity as the 'Cats came roaring back to nearly defeat the Flyers.

Dan Thobe sparked the early attack for the Flyers, scoring 13 of Marion's 19 first quarter points.

The Flyers jumped out to an early lead and, despite the Minster rally, never gave it up. On the first offensive possession, Thobe took the ball along the baseline and pulled up to hit the short jumper.

On the next trip, he was fouled as he shot and canned both free throws. Then, off the inbounds pass, the Flyers stole the ball and Greg Hueslman hit the layup.

The 'Cats got the ball down the floor on the next possession and a wide-open Mike Wiss gave Minster its first points with his shot.

Thobe answered that hoop and by the time Minster Coach Jeff Rasaweher called timeout the score was 8-2.

"We were standing in the offense in the first half," the coach said. "No one seemed to move without the ball."

By the end of the quarter, the Flyers extended the lead to 13 at 19-6.

Minster began to cut into the lead with the help of forward Rick Fortman. The 6-3 senior hit two free throws and a power layup to at least push the Cats into double figures, but Minster still trailed at the half, now by 15, 27-12.

For most folks in attendance, the half time show missed free throw to complete an unusual three-point effort. But with time running out, the Cats closed again and got the difference to just one when Mark Prenger followed a missed shot with a weak side rebound and layup.

Thobe again came up with the big play as he got the ball and was fouled. After hitting both free throws on that trip to the line, and teaming up with Hueslman to hit one each of the Cats were running out of time. Phil Schoch did manage to hit a 3-pointer, but it wasn't enough to make up the difference and the Flyers escaped with the two point win.

In the junior varsity game, the Cats had better luck. They got 13 points from Paul Enneking and beat the Flyers 33-24.

Coast Guard Auxiliary to assist

The U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary was created by an Act of Congress in 1939. This newly formed group was to assist the Coast Guard in promoting safety on the water and is still the only boating organization in the country so authorized. Today the Auxiliary has more than 1,300 flotillas throughout all 50 states with a membership exceeding 40,000 men and women.

The Auxiliary is a volunteer, non-military organization which retains a close affiliation with the Coast Guard yet remains strictly civil in nature. Any U.S. Citizen 17 years of age or older is eligible to join the auxiliary.

The Auxiliary participates in various activities and the three basic programs are public education, courtesy marine examinations and operational missions.

A new flotilla is to be formed at Grand Lake St. Marys this next year. If you are interested in joining this worthwhile organization, one qualification is that you take a Safe Boating Class. One such class starts February 21st at Wright State University in Celina, Ohio at 7:30 p.m.

For further information on joining the Coast Guard Auxiliary and/or taking the Boating Safety Class phone: Commander Robert Burns at 513-842-3843 or Donald Stansloski at 419-634-7305.

Economist Predicts Drop In Price Of Milk

Consumers could see as much as a 9-cent drop in the price of a gallon of milk before May.

But that's only if processors and retailers pass on predicted savings, says Robert E. Jacobson, agricultural economist at Ohio State University. Based on a recent drop in wholesale cheese prices, he expects the price farmers receive for raw milk to drop more than 90 cents per hundred pounds by May. The price of a gallon of milk should drop one cent for every 12-cent decrease in producer prices.

"Cheese is the key commodity in moving the price of milk," Jacobson says. "The wholesale cheese market went down 9 cents a pound in the last few weeks. We can expect the price paid to farmers for milk to follow."

Whether or not retail milk and cheese prices respond to the drop in producer prices remain to be seen, Jacobson says. Some processors and retailers may choose to increase their margin instead of dropping prices, he says. That doesn't necessarily mean more profit for retailers, he says. Increased margin may mean reducing losses since milk is often sold at a reduced price to draw customers to a store.

Milk prices are tied to wholesale cheese prices because cheese is the largest and most dynamic market for raw milk that's used for manufactured dairy products. Jacobson says farmers were paid more during the last half of 1988 when wholesale cheese prices took off. Now that cheese prices have reversed, he expects milk prices to do the same. The predicted drop will send farm milk prices to below $12 by May, he says. The current price is $13.50.

Cedar Point Interviews in Bowling Green

Cedar Point recruiters will be in Bowling Green on Monday, Feb. 20 and Tuesday, Feb. 21 to interview applicants for summer jobs. The amusement/theme park in Sandusky will hire approximately 3,200 employees this season.

Interviews will be held on the third floor of the Bowling Green State University Union Building on Monday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, call the Cedar Point Personnel Department at 419/626-0830.

Positions are available in over 100 job classifications, including ride and food operations, admissions, accommodations, ground maintenance, games and merchandise. Several positions, such as lifeguards, office clerks, cooks, artists and craft demonstrators require special skills.

"We're looking for people who take pride in their jobs," said Katja Rall-Koepke, personnel director. "They must also be enthusiastic and hardworking."

The base wage is $3.70 per hour, plus a 40-cents per hour bonus (potential wage package of $4.10 per hour). The bonus is payable upon completion of a predetermined employment agreement. Low-cost housing is available for employees at least 18 years of age, who live outside a 25-mile radius of the park. With parental consent, high school graduates at least 17 years of age may also live at the park.

"Working at Cedar Point provides valuable job training and experience," said Rall-Koepke. "It's an opportunity to learn how to work as a team with people of all ages and it's a way to earn possible college credit. There is also potential for advancement in the company. After all, over 60 percent of all full-time Cedar Point employees began their careers as seasonal employees."

Employee benefits include free access to Cedar Point's rides and attractions (excluding Soak City), low-cost meals in the employee cafeteria, and work uniforms which are laundered free. Transportation is provided to and from the Sandusky Mall. An employee recreation center, post office and visitor center are also provided. The park sponsors many employee activities, such as picnics, dances, weekly movies, boat trips to the Lake Erie Islands and an extensive intramural program that includes basketball, bowling, coed volleyball and the annual Beach Olympics. Soak City Employee Nights are held several times during the summer.

Summer jobs will be available from April 1 through Oct. 15. Applications can be obtained by writing the Cedar Point Personnel Department at P.O. Box 5006, Sandusky, Ohio, 44871-8006. However, a personal interview greatly increases chances for employment.

Cedar Point will be open daily from Saturday, May 6 through Labor Day, Sept. 4. The park will reopen for four Bonus Weekends on Sept. 9-10, 16-17, 23-24 and Sept. 30- Oct. 1.

Flooring May Be Bottom Line In Pig Growth

Research at Ohio State University is proving that pigs prefer to walk on. The hope is that happier pigs will grow better.

In the 1970s, Ohio State researchers found out that pigs grew faster and better in flat decks—wire-floored pens built above the floor of the nursery building. Now they're studying whether wire is really the best floor for the pens.

"Producers who are considering flat decks for their nurseries ask which floor works best," says Gerald C. Shurson, swine specialist. "Economics has always been a big part of the equation. Now we're proving that the pigs' comfort, which is related to growth performance, is a significant part of the economics."

Flat decks are popular because they're easy to clean, generally warmer than concrete floors and, as a result, improve growth more than concrete floors. The trick, Shurson says, is choosing a floor material that pigs don't mind walking on and producers can afford to buy.

"The selection of materials has changed a lot since flat decks first started being used," he says. "Now you have a choice of surfaces that clean differently, are in different price ranges and may give the pigs different degrees of comfort. We've always wanted our pigs to be comfortable from a humane point of view. And since comfortable pigs grow faster, that's also important to profitability."

Shurson studied growth performance on four types of floor material using six pigs in each 4-foot-square pen. The study will be released as part of Ohio State's 1989 Swine Research and Industry Report during the Swine Research Update Feb. 10 at the Ohio Pork Congress in Dayton.

Pigs raised on "Tri-Bar"—a metal surface of t-shaped slats—and vinyl-coated welded wire grew faster and more efficiently than those on three-gauge woven wire. A plastic floor material called "Poly-Grate" ranked between the vinyl-coated wire and woven wire. Shurson cautions that his initial study was done with only 120 pigs and in a building without environmental control. In addition, commercial swine operations would typically have more pigs in a pen of the size used in the study. Further research is being done using more pigs and more environmental control to give a better idea of the floors' effectiveness.

"When you throw these growth results together with observations we made on cost, clean-up, sanitation and slickness, you start to get an idea of the kinds of flat-deck flooring that pigs prefer," Shurson says.

The Tri-Bar floor tended to stay cleaner and drier and was easier to clean than the other types, Shurson says. This improves sanitation, he says. Vinyl and plastic flooring materials appeared more slippery. The "Poly-Grate" plastic floors were the most difficult to clean, making sanitation difficult and creating the potential for more disease problems. Woven wire also doesn't clean as well and needs to be replaced more often, he says.

Even with its advantages, Tri-Bar is more than twice the price of woven wire, Shurson says. Tri-Bar costs about $5.50 per square foot. The vinyl-coated flooring gave growth performance equal to Tri-Bar but was more expensive and didn't clean as well. PolyGrate and woven wire were least expensive but they didn't perform as well. PolyGrate and woven wire were least expensive but they didn't perform as well in the study, Shurson says.

Versailles FFA hosts Netzley

Senator Cupp Attends Ohio Ag Council's Agricultural Fair

Senator Robert R. Cupp of the 12th District (Allen, Auglaize, Champaign, Madison, Mercer, Logan, Shelby), was one of approximately 75 Ohio legislators who gathered at the Ohio Agricultural Council's Agricultural Fair February 1 in Columbus. At the fair, legislators were guided through the exhibits by hosts representing an agricultural organization or business. In addition to sampling Ohio agricultural products at various food booths, legislators and their hosts discussed the importance of agriculture to Ohio as well as the legislative needs of the Ohio agricultural industry. Ohio's farms annually produce $4 billion of basic commodities and products and employ more than 70,000 people. Ohio's farmers purchased over $3.3 billion of goods and services needed to produce their crops and livestock.

The Ohio Agricultural Council also presented each legislator with a basket of agricultural products and a notebook of organizations and individuals who touch virtually every farmer and every person who makes their living in Ohio's Agricultural Industry. Every other year, the Ohio Agricultural Council invites state legislators to meet with representatives of farm organizations and agriculture-related businesses. The purpose of these gatherings is to educate legislators about Ohio agriculture. The Ag Council consists of members from farm organizations, agriculture-related businesses and others with an interest in agriculture.

Senator Robert R. Cupp of the 12th district reviewed the importance of Ohio agriculture at an agricultural fair sponsored by the Ohio Agricultural Council February 1 in Columbus. Cupp (center) received a notebook of information on agriculture as well as a basket of Ohio farm products from his agriculture as well as a basket of Ohio farm products from his hosts Cliff Byers (left), manager, Auglaize Farmers Cooperative and Bill Homan (right), manager, Minster Farmers Co-Op Exchange.

Gold Medal Flour And Woman's Day Announce Recipe Contest

Gold Medal flour and WOMAN'S DAY magazine announce the "Be A Weekend Chef" Recipe Contest for those who enjoy experimenting in the kitchen. The contest rules appear in the January 1989 issue of WOMAN'S DAY.

Weekend Chefs are invited to submit their best appetizer, main dish, bread and dessert recipes by March 1, 1989.

Fifty-one winners will receive prizes including three Grand-Prize trips for four to the Radisson Paraiso Hotel in the tropical resort of Cancun, Mexico.

In this world of convenience cuisine and microwave miracles, the phrase "recipe contest" may conjure up memories of Grandma in her apron. But who enters recipe contests these days? If you think it's women who spend their days toiling in the kitchen, guess again.

Lois DePiesse, grand-prize winner of a recent Bisquick recipe contest, is a single parent and director of the Women's Employment Program at the YWCA in Wichita, Kansas. Besides rearing her 11-year-old son, she enjoys walking and participating in YWCA fitness activities.

DePiesse's prizewinning Bean-Burrito Bake recipe was submitted on the last day of the contest, after being tested in her kitchen only once. "I thought it through plenty of times, but I actually tried it only once," noted DePiesse.

E.M. Shores, first-prize winner of the same contest, spent several weeks perfecting her Spinach-Cheese Bread recipe. "Spinach and cheese were the 'in' thing," she explained. "And I just tried it over and over again until I got it right."

Shores, a full-time lab technician in Greensboro, North Carolina, enjoys experimenting with recipes on weekends. "By the time I get home during the week, I just don't have the power of concentration to get the recipe right. But I love experimenting; that's why I enter recipe contests. I think there are a lot of good cooks out there who could also win."

Andrea Avery of Friday Harbor, Washington, runs a secretarial/bookkeeping service. Her recipe for Lemon-Cream Cheese Pound Cake was a winner at the 1987 Washington State Fair.

Avery cooks because she enjoys it. "I don't feel pressured to cook-I enjoy cooking. When you go out, you just can't get it like you make it."

For more information and complete contest rules for the Gold Medal flour/WOMAN'S DAY recipe contest, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: The "Be A Weekend Chef" Recipe Contest, Suite 1400, One East Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60601.

For a copy of The Weekend Chef recipe booklet, send $1.00 (to cover postage and handling) to: The Weekend Chef, P.O. Box 5402, Dept. 867, Minneapolis, MN, 55460. (Booklet offer expires June 1, 1989.)

Animals, Animals, And More 4-H Animals

Interested in animals? Want to learn more about your pet? If so, you should enroll in a 4-H animal science project. 4-H offers projects for large and small animals and kids. 4-H is available to any youth aged nine to nineteen in Auglaize County.

Ever wondered what goes into producing that meat you buy at the grocery store? If so, you may wish to enroll in a livestock marketing project, such as steers, lambs or hogs. These projects are designed to give youth the challenge of raising a large animal while learning decision making and marketing skills. There is much to learn about producing the type of animal that will sell into today's market.

You don't want to sell your animal? There are breeding projects for hogs, beef cattle and sheep as well. Other animals, such as dairy cattle and goats may also be projects. Breeding projects teach members how to select replacement animals and the science of genetics. The care and feeding of these animals is an important lesson to be learned.

The 4-H horse program is very popular. Projects range from for advanced members. Older members can enroll in a horse nutrition project. What about training that racehorse or maybe a draft horse project?

For those youngsters interested in smaller animals, 4-H offers a series of rabbit and poultry projects. These animals may be market or breeding projects. The challenge is as great, just the product is smaller!

You may wish to join 4-H to learn more about your cat, dog, gerbil, fish or bird. We offer a variety of projects for these animals. You will learn to care for your pet, including common diseases and proper maintenance practices. Dog obedience training is always exciting.

You have a snake? A ferret? A mongoose? We can help you design an educational program which will allow you to learn about these exotic pets. All you need to do is enroll in a "Self Determined" project.

You say the only pet you have at your house is a fly or a mosquito? Then you should join 4-H and enroll in an entomology project! You can learn more about those little creatures and discover the benefits they are providing you. Beekeeping projects are available too.

If you have an interest in animal health, the 4-H veterinary science projects are for you. There are three projects in this area, "The Normal Animal", "Animal Disease" and "Animal Health-Relation to World". These projects are a good insight into the field of veterinary science.

As you can see, there is a 4-H project for every type of animal and every type of child. How do you become involved? Contact your local 4-H club advisor or the Auglaize County Extension Service, Court House, Wapakoneta, 738-2219 or 738-9003. Join now, clubs are organizing for 1989.

All educational programs and activities conducted by the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service are available to all potential clientele on a nondiscriminatory basis without regard to race, color, creed, religion, sexual orientation, national origin, sex, age, handicap or Vietnam-era veteran status.

Some Pest Pesterers A Waste Of Money

Americans spend more than $400 billion a year to control pests. But if you've invested some of that in an ultrasonic pest repeller, you probably wasted your money, says an entomologist at Ohio State University.

Bill Lyon says research proves these devices don't work. Ultrasonic pest repellers produce high-frequency sound waves that are supposed to drive insects, rodents and birds away from the area the sound covers, he says.

"Sellers claim you can rid your home or building of pests by running one of these devices," Lyon says. "Research shows that the sound emitted from ultrasonic pest repellers can't even penetrate through walls where many insects hide."

In Ohio, the effectiveness of these products cannot be regulated because no state registration is required. In Indiana, however, ultrasonic pest repellers and similar products must be registered with the state chemist office in order to be sold.

Ed White, a pesticide compliance officer in the Indiana state chemist office, says companies need scientific research to prove the product does what it claims before a registration is approved.

"Not one manufacturer had any scientific evidence that ultrasonic pest devices worked, so none of them were registered in Indiana," White says. "We consider ultrasonic pest repellers a consumer fraud."

Ultrasonic sound, inaudible to the human ear, is supposed to interfere with the eating and breeding habits of pests, Lyon says. However, research shows that many rodents become accustomed to the sound and develop a kind of immunity to it.

Some studies revealed that mosquitoes bit more frequently when the machine was turned on than when it was off, Lyon says. Another test showed that termites built mud tubes on the repellers instead of running from the area.

"All birds and many insects associated with food can't even hear the sound," Lyon says. "According to past research, there isn't even a change in pest control when the machine is plugged in compared to when it's not plugged in."

Lyon says the best way to prevent insects and rodents from getting into your house is by using good sanitation. If you run into insect or rodent problems, contact your county's office of the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service about what to do.

New Herbicide-resistant weed problem threatens U.S. crops

Many farmers remember when a pound or two of atrazine controlled all the weeds in a corn field cheaply and effectively.

Those days are gone. Weeds resistant to atrazine and other triazine herbicides are documented problems in the Corn Belt. And now a new group of weeds—resistant to the low-rate sulfonylurea herbicides—have cropped up in the United States.

Kochia, Russian thistle and prickly lettuce resistant to sulfonylurea herbicides were confirmed in at least 50 sites nationwide this summer, university extension sources report.

Both sulfonylurea and imidazolinone herbicides are acetolactate synthase (ALS) inhibitors and kill weeds in a similar way. Resistance to one of these herbicide classes may infer resistance to both classes, explains Dan Hess, Ph.D., director of biochemical and biological research, Sandoz Crop Protection Corporation.

"Although we don't have the (ALS) resistance problem in the Corn Belt now, the potential is there, and growers have to be alert to the problem," says Don Penner, weed physiologist, Michigan State University. "I think it is inevitable that at some point there will be a problem where ever these herbicides are used extensively."

The ALS-inhibitor herbicides work by attacking weeds at one specific site within the plant. Triazine herbicides act on a different site. Weeds resistant to these herbicides differ genetically in such a way that the herbicide cannot work at the site of action.

Herbicides such as Banvel and Marksman, however, work on multiple sites within the weed.

"It is highly unlikely that site-of-action resistance will develop with Banvel or Marksman, the dicamba-based herbicides, because of their multiple action sites," says Hess. "Changes that could make a weed resistant to Banvel or Marksman would most likely prevent the weed from developing in the first place."

To avoid potential problems, Hess advises farmers rotate crops when possible.
